

Christmas Season Finds Outlook for Peace Brightening

Khrushchev's Visit to U. S.,
Ike's Tour Major Reasons

By The Associated Press

People on both sides of the Iron Curtain looked forward this Christmas Eve to the possibility that, for the first time since World War II, the world may again know real peace.

President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev are key figures in the hopes of millions, just as the United States and the Soviet Union have been key nations in the cold war.

Shooting persist in Algeria. Iran and Iraq have moved up troops in a Yuletide border spat. Red China, no convert to Khrushchev's call for renunciation of force to settle world problems, offers a continuing threat in its claims to Indian frontier lands.

Conditions Improve

Pilgrims thronging by the thousands to Bethlehem, Jordan-held birthplace of Jesus Christ, were reminded by the presence of Arab and Israeli military guard posts along the nearby border that the 1948 Palestine war was ended by an armed truce, never by a peace pact.

Any universal peace is a matter of the distant future.

But the past year has been significant steps toward greater international understanding.

Needy Family Has Christmas In His Home

Irvington, N.J. — "Mister, may I have a Christmas tree?" the girl asked hesitantly. "I have only a quarter. May I pay you the rest later?" That's how a needy family of four children not only got a Christmas tree, but today shared a home for the holidays.

Harry Baldassarre is a 26-year-old municipal laborer who sells Christmas trees during the season. He didn't turn away the slim 14-year-old blonde girl who wanted a tree for 25 cents.

He halted his sales last Friday night and accompanied Anna Luna to her home. He met her sisters, Jerri, 5, and Debbie, 3; a brother, Frank, 9; and her mother, Mrs. Eloise Luna, 39.

Father Missing
"Their father has been missing for two months," Mrs. Luna explained softly, "and we have no money for the tree. We have no money at all."

She told the stranger, "I must go to the hospital for an operation before Christmas and the Catholic Charities will have to take care of my children until I return." Baldassarre looked stunned.

"I spent 11 years in an orphanage," he said. "It's no fun at Christmas time."

He insisted on taking the Luna children home to his wife and five children.

Reporter Home After He's Freed in Cuba

Miami — Reporter James C. Buchanan of the Miami Herald goes back to work today to write about Cuban justice under Fidel Castro.

The 43-year-old newsman was liberated only yesterday by Cuban authorities who locked him up Dec. 10 in connection with the guardhouse escape of another Miamiian, Frank Austin Young.

Wisconsin Digs From Worst December Storm in Years

Brighter Weather Picture Promised for Weekend; No New Fall, Mild, Cloudy Sky

A brighter weather picture was promised holiday travelers in the wake of a December snowstorm which established records in some portions of the state Tuesday and Wednesday.

At least 10 persons are dead, huge drifts clog the country and transportation has been disrupted throughout the state.

The Fox Cities this morning began digging out from under nine inches of snow. No new snow is expected.

Cloudy Skies

The weatherman promises cloudy skies, mild temperatures and only scattered snow flurries.

Main roads in the state are open although they are slippery. Holiday travelers will get out of snow as they head south of Chicago, North of here and pass out of the lakes region, the area heaviest hit, the Green Bay weather bureau said.

Milwaukee had its worst snowfall since records were kept starting in 1871. A total of 12.2 inches accumulated. North and north central portions of the state also had a few records set.

Worst Fall

In the Fox Cities Dec. 6 to 8, 1950, the worst snow fall of 14 inches was recorded. The 33-year average for December for the Fox Cities is nine inches. This amount fell the last two days.

The only other heavy storm on record for December was in 1926 when 10 inches fell on Dec. 7.

Appleton street department continued in its second day of midnight-to-noon plowing of city streets. Four graders and 18 truck plows resumed work at midnight and were expected to finish routes late this morning. Two jeep plows

Halifax, Former British Envoy To U. S. Is Dead

York, England — Lord Halifax died at his country home here in Yorkshire last night. The gaunt, shy British statesman who helped swing the might of the United States against Nazi Germany in World War II was 78.

Former Lord Halifax, viceroy to India, foreign secretary and wartime British ambassador to Washington, Halifax had been bedfast two days with a chest complaint. His son and heir, Lord Irwin, said his father "was just completely worn out."

In Washington, acting Sec. of State Douglas Dillon paid tribute to the wartime ambassador. "He was ever a staunch friend of this country," said Dillon. "and during his years of public life contributed greatly to the strengthening of Anglo-American relations."

Mysterious Santa Continues to Help Akron, Ohio, Family

Akron — For seven years a mysterious man has been playing Santa to Mrs. Helen Arnold and her nine children.

It all started in 1953 when Mrs. Arnold was wandering in a department store worrying over how she could make $37 cover the needs of all her children. A hand reached out and pressed something into her hand. A man's voice said, "Buy something nice for the kids."

In her hand was a $20 bill. She did not see the giver. Mrs. Arnold wrote a letter to the Akron Beacon Journal thanking the mysterious stranger. She signed it "Grateful Mother."

Every year since then the mysterious stranger has sent a gift for "Grateful Mother" to the Beacon Journal. A reporter takes the money to Mrs. Arnold, whose husband is in Ohio penitentiary serving a sentence for grand larceny. The family has been getting help from the Aid to Dependent Children.

The mysterious stranger's gifts have totaled $1,390. This year's was the largest: The envelope opened at the Beacon Journal contained seven $50 bills.

Santa Claus to Have Clear Sailing Tonight

Wisconsin — Partly cloudy to cloudy with occasional snow flurries Friday. Continued mild. Outlook for Saturday: Mostly cloudy, with chance of snow west portion by evening. Not much change in temperature.

Appleton — Temperatures for the 24-hour period ending 9 a.m. today: High 31, low 25. Temperature at 10 a.m. today 28. Barometer reading 30.22 inches, with wind west southwest four miles an hour. Snow accumulation nine inches.

Sun sets at 4:18 p.m., rises Friday at 7:28 a.m.; moon rises Friday at 2:17 a.m. Prominent stars are Altair, Sirius, Regulus, Rigel and Spica.

Steel Union Seeks Living Cost Increase

Attorney Wants Boost to Go Into Effect in January

Pittsburgh — The United Steelworkers are going to court to try to get a 4-cent-an-hour cost-of-living wage increase.

The union's general counsel, Arthur J. Goldberg, said yesterday that USW would ask U. S. District court here today to order the pay hike, effective in January.

The nation's half million basic Steelworkers were on strike 116 days until Nov. 7. A Taft-Hartley court injunction sent them back to the mills for 80 days under terms of their old contract.

Defendants Claim Goldberg contends the workers are entitled to cost-of-living hikes under the old contract because of a change in the government's consumer price index for November.

He also said he will ask that first year benefits under any new contract be made retroactive to Nov. 7.

The steel industry has disputed the union contentions about cost-of-living and retroactivity. When Federal Judge Herbert P. Sorg issued the Taft-Hartley injunction here last October, he reserved decision on both these matters.

Eisenhowers to Fly to Georgia

Washington — President and Mrs. Eisenhower will fly to Augusta, Ga., Sunday for a rest and holiday lasting at least through New Year's day, the White House announced today.

Press Sec. James C. Hagerty said they plan to leave by plane shortly after 11 a. m. church services.

The holiday trip apparently will have considerable work attached. Hagerty said the president was busy today lining up a list of officials who will consult with him on matters to be presented to congress after it convenes Jan. 6.

He also will work on the three major messages which must be delivered to congress in January.

Persian Princes?

Mystery, Legend Surround Tale of Magi and Their Gifts

BY WILTON WYNN

Cairo — Down through the centuries, three shadowy figures have moved mysteriously in and out of the Christmas story.

They are the three wise men from the east, the three kings of the orient, the Magi — they have many labels. But, however, they are called, this trio of stately patriarchs remains a familiar part of the religious drama wherever the birth of Jesus is commemorated.

Very little is known of these men who first called Christ the King. But in isolated sites across the middle east, traces of their visit still may be found. Ancient legends link them with the fire worship said to be flourishing even today in the remote regions of Persia.

Single Reference. Usually identified as Magis, members of the priestly caste of Persia, they have come down to us as Melchior, Caspar and Balthasar. In the Bible itself, they are mentioned only in the book of Matthew.

British authorities confirm reports from Teheran that Iranian jet fighters have been moved into the vital Abadan oil region to support tanks and artillery sent in earlier this week.

Ice Falls Through Roof of London Home

London — A chunk of ice plummeted from the sky last night, smashed through the roof of a house, brought down the ceiling of a top floor flat, and made splinters of a dining room table. The ice was believed to have formed on a high-flying airplane.

"I thought one of those space rockets had come down," said James Archer.

Doubt Iran and Iraq Will Clash

London — British diplomatic sources said today there is no indication that Iraqi and Iranian forces are about to clash despite angry demonstrations on both sides of the disputed Shatt-al-Arab river.

The Christmas I Will Always Remember

Holidays Recall Wartime Battle With Death for Brown County Man

BY JOHN P. HOLLOWAY
County Clerk, Brown County
As told to Charles House

My story isn't a pretty one and it isn't a nice one. Not for a Christmas story. But I'll tell it the way it happened and if you think it's too tough for people to read in this happy season, then you'd better cut the bad places.

I don't know what my Christmas was, that special time, because it was 1941 and I was in a sort of a dreamy fog in a bed at the Tripler General hospital at Honolulu. I was getting ready to die.

Technically, I guess, I was dead, because my father got a telegram that now hangs in my office in the Brown County courthouse.

Official Notice

It was addressed to my father. It was dated 11:18 p. m., Dec. 9, 1941. It read:

"The Secretary of War desires me to express his deep regret that your son John P. Holloway was killed in action in defense of his country at Hickam Field, Territory of Hawaii, December 7. Stop. No remains can be transported to the U. S. until after termination of hostilities when the Quartermaster General, Washington, D. C. will, if possible and upon request of the next of kin, bring the remains to the U. S. for final interment."

Adams, The Adjutant General, Washington, D. C.

It wasn't until a long time after that that my dad and my friends knew that I was still alive. I was never really afraid that I was going to die, but of course I was pretty sure it would happen. I was given the last rites of the Catholic church three times and I believed that things would be all right even if I did die.

I was a soldier in the regular army air force at the time the Japs bombed Pearl Harbor. That morning I had just come off duty and had taken a shower. I ran out of the building and got some clothes before I headed back to my station. There just didn't seem anything to do

The Moon on the Crest of the new-fallen snow and the clatter of tiny hoofs is more than a fantasy for these children, patiently awaiting the arrival of the man they know is coming tonight. except help the wounded so I got on a detail and we helped everybody we could and got them lined up for hospitalization.

I was hit four times by machine gun bullets, most of them ricochets, but none of them hurt so bad that I had to quit. I kept working but I don't remember paying too much attention to the wounds. Anyway, they didn't hurt.

Friend Killed

Then I came across the dead body of one of my best friends. He was so badly ripped up and smashed that I could hardly bear it. I ran into a hangar to get some canvas to cover him with when a Jap bomber got a direct hit on the hangar.

It was 10:10 A. M. I know, because my watch stopped when I got hit. I guess it was shell fragmentation.

My left leg was blown almost completely off. The bone was torn out of my right leg. My left arm was broken and my right wrist had the bone taken out by fragmentation.

I didn't even know I had been hit at first. The concussion numbed me, I suppose, and God is kind. I don't think I was suffering, but I was leaning against the wall of the hangar and I saw the blood and, pretty soon I knew I had been hurt pretty bad.

Feels No Pain

I leaned against the wall and watched my left leg twist itself into strangely curious positions as the shattered muscles began to draw. I watched it all in a kind of dreamy fascination, and I watched the leg drop off. I felt no pain.

I knew I was going to fall pretty soon, but my arms were useless. My campaign hat was still on my head and I stood there trying to figure a way to get my hat to fall to the ground so that when I fell my head would be cushioned by the hat. It seemed kind of silly to me. I think I was even a little amused.

Finally I went down but didn't hurt myself. I waited for help. I wanted water. I wanted water so bad that I could hardly stand it. I have never wanted anything that much before.

Got No Water

Then people came and they were helping everybody around me, and some of them would stop and look at me and say something. I would beg them for water but nobody gave me any. Somebody would put a cigarette into my mouth and light it and then go away to help others.

Maybe I was incoherent, because when I begged for water they kept giving me cigarettes. I didn't even smoke then. I couldn't use my arms to remove the cigarettes so I just lay there and smoked them down and then spat them out.

I kept getting angry at those people, some of them good friends. I was so furious at them that even months later I wouldn't even talk to them.

Couldn't be Moved

The truth of the matter was that it would have been dangerous to move me without a doctor there.

I remember everything that happened for a long time. I fainted several times and other times I may have lapsed into a semi-coma. Then, finally I came to consciousness and I found myself lying on a porch in the Tripler General hospital but I knew they had brought me there in the body of a dump truck. I lay there until it got dark.

Sometimes a nurse would come and give me some kind of a shot, and then she'd write something on my forehead with lipstick. It almost made me laugh.

Christmas Eve

When I was finally taken to the operating table I went into a daze and I remember nothing at all except dreamily until Christmas eve, 17 days later.

I knew it was Christmas eve. There was a wonderful nurse in our ward. She had a 1-record portable phonograph and she had all of us singing Christmas songs. Most of us in that ward were pretty far gone and the music was kind of thin-sounding and it almost made me cry. But we all tried to sing, mostly to please her I guess. I don't know if it made me happy or sad, though. It was a sort of a dreamy time.

Later they moved me to another ward and the attendant put my hospital chart on my chest and I could read it and it looked pretty bad. Then I learned that I was going to a ward where everybody was dying. It was a pretty bad Christmas eve.

Ordered to States

But when Christmas day came, I got my orders to go back to the states and then I knew that I was getting along pretty good. They put me on board the U.S.S. Mari- posa and we headed for San Francisco and the Letterman General hospital.

On board a lady came down to see us and I recognized her as the wife of my squadron commander. She offered to write some letters for me and I dictated quite a few, mostly to my dad and to my girl friend (I married her after I came back), and to friends in the Green Bay area. I told them all that I wasn't dead. I felt pretty good after that. I had been terribly worried.

Well, I learned how to use my wooden leg quite well because a friend in San Francisco knew a woman who had lost her leg as a child. She was very good at it and she taught me some tricks. I am rather proud of how I walk although I am not very good at long distances.

On Same Date

Two years later my brother Larry was killed on the same date I got hit. We had six brothers in the service and so it wasn't as bad, perhaps, losing one and crippling another, as it would have been for some families with only one in the service. We were lucky. I know I am about the luckiest of all men.

I have four children from 6 to 12 years old, and the best wife anybody ever had. My injuries keep me from having certain kinds of recreation, like hunting with my son, but we all go camping every summer. It's our big family recreation.

When I finally came back into civilian life in January of 1943, I weighed only 65 pounds. But I got a job the very next day. Then, in 1946 I was elected county clerk of Brown county, and I've been very happy with my whole life because I know I was lucky to be alive and also to have such a good family and to have the people place their confidence in me.

But I'll always remember that Christmas. I think of it very often because I have good reason to think of it. Somehow in my mind Christmas and war are permanently joined together — and that's the saddest part of my story.

Report Revival of Sorcery in Congo

Brussels, Belgium — At least 100 Africans have died in a revival of African witchcraft, Belgian Congo authorities reported today.

They report discovery in Kasai province not far from Luluabourg, of resumption of ancient tribal customs in which large groups of Africans take poison in mass performances of sorcery. About 100 arrests have been made, they added.

Kasai province has for days been the site of violent clashes between the Lulua and cleared parking lots and sidewalks fronting city-owned land.

Work on Hills
Sanders worked hills and key intersections on a non-stop basis most of Wednesday, stopping about 8 p.m. Wednesday. They were scheduled to return again this afternoon. Hills were kept open ahead of the sanders by graders and truck plows.

Removal of windrows on College and Wisconsin avenues had to be put off because of the continuing snow. Best bet for their removal now is sometime Saturday morning, a street department spokesman said.

The city crews did a wonderful job of keeping streets open, taxicab companies agree. Taxis are moving at 50 per cent less than normal operating efficiency because of the streets and heavy calls.

Calls Lighter
Calls to the cab companies are lighter today than at the peak of the storm Wednesday, a cab official said.

"People realize how things are, a cab company spokesman said. They remember last spring and have been considerate," he added.

County crews worked most of the night. Roads are slippery but open. Town roads are very slippery. Some are not yet open. All prisoners in the county jail who could be let out to work helped in snow removal.

Many Accidents
Accidents throughout the county were numerous. In most, damage was slight.

The storm began Tuesday, the first official day of winter. It piled up 16 inches of snow in some communities when it continued through Wednesday before it began to blow itself out early today. Winds up to 45 m.p.h. were recorded along the Milwaukee lake shore sending high waves from Lake Michigan over seawalls and piling up huge drifts in other communities.

Six victims of the storm were snow shovelers who suffered heart attacks while three persons died of automobile accidents on snowbound roads. Another man was killed when his tractor skidded and overturned on him.

The snow in the midwest, lashed by gusty winds which built huge drifts in many areas, lost much of its power during the early morning. Driving conditions still were hazardous from northern Illinois and northern Indiana northward.

Snow fell during the night from North Dakota and northeastern South Dakota across Minnesota into the upper Great Lakes. Freezing rain accompanied the snow near the southern end of Lake Michigan and central Indiana.

The snow was expected to continue in the upper Mississippi Valley through the Great Lakes region and into parts of the Middle Atlantic states and North Carolina during the afternoon.

Boy, 17, Given 30-Year Term

Milwaukee — Seven-teen-year-old Robert W. Butler was sentenced to 30 years in prison Wednesday on a charge of assault and armed robbery.

Municipal Judge Herbert J. Steffes, citing Butler's long juvenile record, said the youth standing. Among these have been the Khrushchev visit to the United States and Eisenhower's agreement to return the visit; the arrangements for a Big Four summit conference; Eisenhower's 11-nation tour on behalf of friendship and peace in freedom; moderate progress in Geneva nuclear talks; the coming 10-nation parley on disarmament.

Eisenhower touched on his peace mission in a Christmas message carried around the world last night.

"I talked with kings and presidents, prime ministers and humble men and women in cottages and mud huts," he said. "Their common denominator was their faith that America will lead the way toward a just peace."

Bethlehem today was as usual a focal point in religious observances.

Hotels Crowded

Hotels and boarding houses of that Judean town were turning away customers with words equivalent to the aged "no room at the inn." Chartered planes swelled a flow of tourists that spelled prosperity for the many inhabitants of Holy Land areas who depend on tourist trade for their livelihood. Arab-Israeli tension had eased somewhat.

Even Algiers, celebrating its sixth Christmas since the start of the nationalist rebellion against French rule, presented a more normal appearance than usual. Stores were crowded with French people buying holiday gifts. But outside the city, security patrols were reinforced to bar grenade raids.

Across the Mediterranean, gifts of toys, candy, and relief supplies went to flood-stricken French families at Frejus. The official toll from bursting of the Malpasset dam three weeks ago stood at 319 dead, 103 missing.

Prosperous Season
Nations of west Europe were riding high. And except for Poland and possibly East Germany — both troubled by food shortages — this should be the best Christmas season economically since the war for communist-ruled eastern Europe. Though prices were high, consumer and luxury goods were reported stocked heavily by state-run stores.

The Christian-style celebration still defies conversion attempts by the communists in Hungary, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and Poland. Thousands crowded their churches.

The season had its impact on two Christmas islands. One is Christmas island in the Pacific, discovered Dec. 24, 1777, by Capt. James Cook. There turkey and plum pudding will be served soldiers and airmen manning a British nuclear testing base. The other is Christmas island in the Indian ocean, discovered Dec. 25, 1643, by Capt. William Myrnes. A holiday was proclaimed there for all 2,500 inhabitants, mostly Chinese phosphate miners.

Three Persons Die In Private Plane Crash at Fort Worth

Fort Worth, Texas — A 4-place private plane crashed was guilty of brutality in a number of crimes. Steffes also sentenced Butler to a concurrent 10-year term for unarmed robbery.

Butler was arrested last August after an attempted purse snatching. He subsequently admitted a string of such thefts, including two in which his women victims had been beaten, police said.

Butler also was convicted of threatening a taxicab driver with a butcher knife in a robbery.

Four-Year-Old Terry Kay Hensley, San Bernardino, Calif., is her parents' best Christmas present. She underwent a serious heart operation 11 days ago and doctors gave her a 50-50 chance to recover. But the girl promised her parents she would get well by Christmas. Now the doctors say she can look forward to a normal life.

near Armon Carter airport to-day and rescue workers found three bodies in the wreckage. The plane was flying from Cheyenne, Wyo., to Dallas when it encountered flying difficulties, the federal aviation authority said. Heavy fog was present.

The crash occurred about 11 miles north-northwest of the city's main airport, midway between Fort Worth and Dallas. The bodies had been thrown clear of the Cessna 195. Wreckage was scattered over a 500-yard wide area and apparently struck the ground with great force.

Christmas Time

Once again I have the opportunity of extending my heartfelt wishes that all Appleton citizens — north, south, east and west — enjoy the richest of holiday blessings.

X-Rays Show Smoke's Effect On Arteries

Difference Not Significant in Lungs
Of Light Smokers

Chicago—Significant variations in the diameter of arteries of the lungs of heavy smokers as compared with those of nonsmokers have been found in a study of chest X-rays.

Dr. Josue Pagan-Carlo, department of radiology, Touro Infirmary, New Orleans, reported the findings in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The arterial shadows on routine chest X-rays of 694 smokers and nonsmokers were measured by calipers in the study.

In the area of the right descending pulmonary artery, Dr. Pagan - Carlo said, the study revealed average measurements of the arteries of heavy smokers were significantly higher than for non-smokers.

Define Smoker
A heavy smoker was defined as one who smokes more than 30 cigarettes a day.

The expansion of the pulmonary artery in heavy smokers may result from constriction of the smaller branches of the artery brought on by the chronic effect of nicotine, he said.

"No one knows all the possible reflexes initiated in the lungs as a result of . . . the effects of the irritating inhalants in the tobacco smoke," he said.

Dr. Pagan - Carlo pointed "no significant difference was demonstrable in the vascular markings of light and moderate smokers, as compared to nonsmokers."

Roger Touhy's Son Appears On TV Show

Los Angeles—The son of Roger (The Terrible) Touhy flew into town Tuesday.

Tom Touhy turned out to be a slightly built, mild-mannered church-going man of 33 whose only brush with the law occurred years ago—when he got a traffic citation.

The younger Touhy—whose notorious father was ambushed and killed in Chicago last week—came here for his first television interview.

Tom, who has lived under an assumed name for years, said one reason he agreed to speak out in public as Touhy's son was his concern over a newspaper report that he was "out to avenge his father's death."

"I certainly wish you could straighten that out," he said. "I don't want to get mixed up in anything like that."

Tom was flown from Chicago by Paul Coates, a Mirror-News columnist who has a nightly TV interview show. Coates contacted him through a mutual friend. Touhy appeared on Coates' show Tuesday night.

Transplant of Kidney Saved Twin's Life

Boston—Five years ago Richard Herrick was dying of kidney disease. Then, two days before Christmas in 1954, surgeons transplanted a healthy kidney from his identical twin brother Ronald. Now Richard is the picture of health.

Merrick picture of health.

"I feel fine, am quite active and do not get unusually tired," he said Tuesday night. "Since the operation I have gained about 50 pounds."

Richard, now 23, is married and the father of two children. He works in a Worcester clothing store and lives in Shrewsbury.

"I am lucky, so very lucky," he said. "The success of the operation was not just the work of men; it had also to be the will of God."

Ronald, the kidney donor, also enjoys good health—on his single remaining kidney. Ronald and his wife, the former Cynthia Ann Barnes of Marlboro, are faculty members at Northboro (Mass.) High school.

The kidney transplant at Peter Bent Brigham hospital here represented a medical breakthrough. Eleven other kidney transplants have been done at the hospital since that first one, and nine have been successful. Recently surgeons transplanted a kidney from one non-identical twin to the other. A similar non-identical transplant was done in Paris.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord...
Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace goodwill toward men

St. Luke 2: 11 and 14

These sacred words proclaimed the birth of the Christ Child, humbly born yet destined to found a glorious faith of peace and good will. As we celebrate this year's feast of Christmas, may it mean a renewal of this ages-old, ever-new hope of peace and understanding. And may your Christmas be blessed with all the sweetness of heart symbolized by the Christ Child.

What Is a 'Stop-Gap' Tax?

If Gov. Nelson is inclined to listen to some gratuitous advice from the bleachers after the ball game has ended, we would suggest that one of his errors in trying to persuade the legislature to pass a tax bill was to call his program "stop-gap."

It may be that the Republican state senate would not have collaborated with the Democratic governor in any event, the spirit of partisan competition being what it is.

But it seems obvious that the governor's arguments can be challenged objectively. He seemed to wish to put over the idea that these tax propositions of his were "temporary," that they could be done away with when his citizens tax study commission reports. That was the tenor of the debate on the floor and of the publicity inspired by the executive office.

Yet nothing in the preferred Nelson bill, and especially the withholding scheme proposed for the collection of income taxes, could accurately be called "stop-gap."

A withholding tax would be the last that could be devised that would fit that word, by its very definition. Because the governor had his eye on the "windfall" receipts due under the pre-payment plan, and planned to spend them immediately, there would be no slightest chance for the repeal of such a system once enacted. That is so easily demonstrable that we wonder who the governor felt he was kidding.

It was much the same with the proposal to change the method of computing the income tax liability of banks as corporations and to bring the savings and loan associations within the reach of the state income tax assessor.

The governor proposed these items as a means of making the tax system more equitable, as his speeches plainly showed. Members of his party have been agitating the bank tax issue for more than a decade. Plainly this new method of assessing them, once adopted, would not be repealed after a short period, as the "stop-gap" descriptive again implied.

There may be merit in this plan. Fair minded men may honestly dispute the issues involved. But the governor could have submitted this bill on its own, and according to its merits, without the implication that it was devised to meet a temporary difficulty in the state treasury.

About the only truly "stop-gap" item in the governor's fiscal package, unless we abuse the language, was his request for an additional one cent tax on cigars. But the governor's own Democratic friends deserted him on that proposal the moment they felt the heat from the tobacco producers and distributors.

Federal Aid Means Influence

Probably the majority of professional educators in the country favor some sort of Federal aid to education if only because money is so hard to come by from local and state sources. Most educational groups are on record as emphasizing the need for Federal aid if the public schools are to meet the increasing demands of higher enrollments and challenges of quality as well as quantity. But Dr. James B. Conant, in a book following his study of public high schools in the country, shows some reluctance.

Dr. Conant takes note of the apathy and complacency he found in some areas concerning advances in education. He seems to feel that drastic tax changes will be needed in some states if educational needs are to be met both for the opportunities for American youth and to meet the Soviet competition. But he warns that Federal aid must mean some measure of Federal influence, something which many educators insist is not so.

"The educational committees of the House and Senate will have every reason to examine into details of curricula and school organization" if they are paying the bills, according to Dr. Conant. "It would not be accurate to describe the resulting situation as Federal control of our public schools, but we should certainly have a powerful Federal influence added to the present influence of the central authority in each state." Some sort of a new agency, possibly a Secretary of Education, would be required and a centralized body could easily be composed "largely of self-seeking politicians."

Dr. Conant's new book, The Child, The Parent and The State, seeks to ascertain the responsibilities of each. Dr. Conant is aware that we have come a long way from rigid parental control and he well recognizes the increasingly large role the school plays in the life of the child. But he also has in view the totalitarian states which wield much of their indoctrination through the schools upon the minds of the young. Perhaps these horrible examples are the main reason why Dr. Conant shies away from approving Federal aid to education in this country.

This obviously puts the burden again where it belongs, on local boards and taxing units. All the warnings about Federal control of education will not suffice if local groups do not meet the challenges.

The Republican Victory in Iowa

The election of John Kyl by a margin of 2,532 votes over Democrat C. Edwin Gilmour in Iowa's Fourth district has been generally regarded as cheering news for the Republicans and discouraging news for the Democrats but no one knows exactly why the victory came about. Last year Kyl, running for the first time, was defeated by Steven D. Carter, a Democrat. The vote at that time was Carter, 42,479 and Kyl, 39,233. Carter died only a few weeks ago of cancer. He won considerable attention when it was revealed that he had employed his son as a member of his office staff at a salary of $11,873 per year. His son was in charge of his office while the congressman was hospitalized. Nevertheless, the high salary had an unfavorable effect upon the voters back in Iowa. The vote on Dec. 5 was Republican Kyl 28,336 and Democrat Gilmour 25,804.

The question is, of course, how did this change come about. Gilmour is a Grinnell college political science professor and he was elected to the state senate in 1958 at the same time Carter defeated Kyl for the congressional seat. The Democratic victory then was regarded as an indication of a farm revolt. In that election the Democrats and Republicans split Iowa's eight congressional seats evenly. Previously the delegation had been Republican, 7 to 1. Both Kyl and Gilmour had denounced Sec. of Agriculture Benson and all his work. Nevertheless, Kyl's victory is regarded in many Republican circles as tending to take the heat off Benson to a considerable degree. Apparently Prof. Gilmour believes that to be the result also for he has ascribed his defeat to the fact that the farmers failed to protest against Benson's policies and to the fact that "working men and consumers didn't protest against the high interest rate policies of the present administration."

On the other hand, Kyl attributes his victory to a positive campaign and the fact that the voters are "vitally interested in Mr. Eisenhower's crusade for peace."

In spite of the fact that the election was held when both hog and cattle prices were down, and there was a threat of great surpluses of corn on the market, the Republicans made big gains in the small towns and cities and a slight gain in the farm areas. Thus, while the Democrats have been carefully planning their campaign in the farm belt where they expect to receive the support of farmers who are displeased with the present price situation, it may be that the election has not turned upon farm policies at all. It may prove again that the people in the farm areas are as much interested in national and international affairs as are city people and that it was largely the President's crusade for peace that persuaded them to support a Republican at the poll. Whatever the reasons, the victory in itself certainly has given the Republican party a great lift and likewise it has given the Democrats something for sober second thought.

New Drama Club in Rehearsal

75 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Dec. 25, 1880.

The Appleton Dramatic association is now thoroughly organized and in constant rehearsal of plays that will hereafter be produced. We believe the management is in the hands of Mr. Dillenback, an old experienced theatrical professional. He has interested quite an amount of local talent in the organization, and an evidence of their work was witnessed in the play, "The Octoroon," recently produced at Bertschy Hall with such marked success that our citizens have requested its repetition as a testimonial benefit to the company. It will be re-produced at the ball next Wednesday evening. Let us manifest our kindly interest in this talented home company by greeting them with a full house on that evening.

suite of rooms on the third floor of the Smith block.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Dec. 20, 1934

Complete plans for the inauguration of Gov.-elect Philip F. LaFollette and other newly elected state officers on Jan. 7 were announced by the inaugural committee of which Thomas Davlin of Madison was chairman.

A school of instruction for additional field workers in Appleton's better housing campaign was launched at the housing headquarters in the insurance building that morning under the direction of Walter Gmeiner, chairman of the field and planning committee.

Irene Bosserman was elected president of Luther League of Trinity English Lutheran church at a meeting at the home of Miss Ada Rademacher, Appleton. Science students at Menasha High school organized a club whose objective was to further knowledge along scientific lines. The group was under the direction of L. A. Weinbergen and M. J. Gegan. Clifford Heiss was elected president, Frank Lanzer, vice president, and Robert Floyd, secretary and treasurer.

10 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Dec. 22, 1949

A memorial to "Jack" Monty, former police chief at Clintonville, was erected in the grade school through contributions of pennies by grade school children. The memorial, a photograph of "Jack" and a bronze plaque, was in memory of the man who saw that more than two generations of Clintonville children safely crossed Highway 45 in front of the school.

Miss Lynn Casper, Appleton, was initiated by the Alpha Omicron chapter of Eta Sigma Phi, classical languages society, at Lawrence college.

Make Room This Christmas

A CHRISTMAS GREETING

I tried to write a poem
That would recreate the story
Of The Child, the star and stable
And the sky of stream-lit glory.

But it was only futile,
For it's all there in Holy Writ
Recorded in the book of Luke
And none can add to it one bit.

And then I thought to write a song—
Those thoughts in melody to mold,
But I could only bow before
The sweet matchless carols of old.

So I have no poem or a song
But just these simple words of cheer—
"God bless you on this Christmas day
And every day throughout the year."

CHRIST, THE LIGHT

It was cold cold outside,
The frozen ground was covered with snow.
Winter's chill breath met me at the door,
But not the icy cold of January's blasting roar.
Outside was the deep deep silence of December
Above the grayed morning I saw a star
—One lone star, shining from the east afar!

IS THERE REALLY A SANTA CLAUS?

How often have you heard this asked, with hope still shining in their eyes
An answer there is hard to find;
Is he really in disguise
In quick response I search my thoughts and one comes to my mind

"I believe in Santa Claus and I am twenty six
I also know that Santa Claus can put you in a fix
But I believe there's a Santa Claus who fills us all with love
Guided by a gentle hand from somewhere up above

Who else can give us the Christmas spirit that makes our hearts so warm
And the magic of Christmas, the day our Christ was born
We watch the snow come fluttering down, their place on earth to find.

Who else can give these tiny flakes such intricacy divine
As you walk along the avenues, sweet music fills the air
People bustling back and forth, Santa Claus is surely there
When you look into your children's eyes as they hang their stockings with care.
Can you tell me there's not a Santa Claus?
You can see him everywhere
Now Christmas Eve is finally here and your loved ones are gathered about
You count your blessings together and send prayers to those apart
Yes, I believe there's a Santa Claus in everybody's heart!

TO THE EDITORS —

"Merry Christmas Post-Crescent"
And a "Happy New Year" too —
I'd be pretty much in the dark —
If I didn't count on you.

You give me so much pleasure
And never let me down.
You always keep me in the know
Of Country, State, and Town.

I look forward to your appearance
To be again with you,
Altho' you come in sections
You're solid thru and thru!

You prove to be a Wonderful Friend
Of people everywhere.
You're sadly missed when we look out
And find that you're not there. (Yet)

You come thru rain and sleet and snow
And, never break a date.
You're qualities are of the best
So very high you rate.

So "Merry Christmas Post-Crescent"
Keep up the good work too!
Altho' we seldom tell you so

Brown Co. Man May Get Spot on GOP Ticket

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — Random notes accumulated on a political beat:

A tentative ears may occasionally hear mention of Colburn Chamberlain, the Republican leader, as a potential bidder for a place on the Republican state ticket next year. . . . There are some promising younger legislators on the Democratic side but discreet soundings have shown them indifferent to suggestions that they might win the nomination of the party for secretary of state, to challenge the formidable Robert C. Zimmerman.

Earl Sachse, the meticulous secretary of the Legislative Council, is worried about the possibility that "interim" legislative studies may be cancelled or shortened into insignificance. As it now appears, the legislature may not leave much "interim" . . . More young Democratic lawyers are making known their aspirations to become judges. Gov. Nelson thus far has stuck pretty close to party-endorsed candidates for such judicial plums as he has had to pass around. . . .

COMER

Young Frank Christofferson, Democratic Superior assemblyman, will be heard from in the future. He won a committee chairmanship this year in his first term, something virtually without precedent in statehouse politics.

Robert Moses, the eager publicist from Eau Claire, has damaged himself with a demonstration of clumsiness because of his clumsy handling of a publicity campaign for Nelson's withholding tax. . . . Even if withholding continues to be a campaign issue of the party, as it very likely will, it is not likely that Moses will be permitted defeat the purpose of U. S. law making counterfeiting a crime. So this fellow lost his $15,000 in toto.

And the fellow who stole the $15,000 has his problems, too, aside from theft and counterfeiting. The chances are the Internal Revenue service will grab him for a short-term capital gain which will give the government a double slice of this particular $15,000. As we said at the start, a fellow hasn't got very much of a chance — especially when Uncle Sam can't lose twice.

What Others are Saying

Reds' Twain Criticism Completely Unjustified

From The Buffalo Evening News

The life and writings of Mark Twain have become the subject of some buffing and puffing in Soviet literary circles, with comic overtones that would delight no one more than the great humorist himself.

Novelist Charles A. Neider was censured by the Soviet literary organ, "Literary Gazette," for his editing of Twain's autobiography. Mr. Neider, complained the critic, had deleted some of Twain's views on the political and social scene of half a century ago; and this, said the critic darkly, was another evidence of a conspiracy in U. S. literary circles reflecting an official Washington line to downgrade Samuel Clemens. As proof of deliberate suppression by the "ruling circles," the critic cited the alleged absence of any Twain books at the U. S. exhibition in Moscow last summer.

Mr. Neider's rebuttal, which the Russian newspaper promises to publish, disposes of the conspiracy nonsense in a way that should teach Soviet critics some lessons on accuracy in reporting. In editing the autobiography for general readers, says Mr. Neider, he cut out some "dated, dull, trivial" material to make room for masses of previously unpublished "more truly autobiographical, more purely literary and more characteristically humorous material." Twain, after all, was "essentially a great fabulist and not a great maker of political utterances."

As for these deletions reflecting any national disposition to banish Twain, he cites numerous collections of his works, current imperfections of him on the stage, and a filming of "Huckleberry Finn." And as to have much part in it. . . . Sen. Davis Donnelly of Eau Claire, representing a district that is not yet secure for his party, is eagerly voting an independent line in the legislature. . . . Former Gov. Oscar Rennebohm, who has been ill for some time, is in better condition than in several years but there is no verification of the reports that he may resume an active role in politics. . . .

Phil LaFollette spoke out of a lifetime of experience and reflection when he told an interviewer the other day that a man should expect his most productive years in politics to be in late youth and middle age. . . . There isn't any quick way to ascertain the expense of this extraordinarily durable legislature, but a fair guess would be that each additional month costs the treasury around $100,000. . . . The salaries of the legislators are paid whether they are at home or in Madison. . . . Paul Rogan, the former insurance commissioner, won't run for office next year but he will very likely have an active role in the GOP campaign, nevertheless. . . .

KNUTSON

A state senate committee has informally decided to hold up approval of Gov. Nelson's nomination of George Otto to the industrial commission until it is resolved that Reuben Knutson cannot serve out his term, as Gov. Nelson holds. . . . Stewart Honeck, the former attorney general, is telling friends positively that he doesn't intend to interrupt his law practice again to seek a state office. He has reestablished his home and his business in Milwaukee, where he lived before he came to Madison to be a deputy attorney general 15 years ago. . . .

There are strong doubts being expressed in capitol circles about the capacity of some of the interim committee chairmen now being selected for Legislative Council chores. . . . Gov. Nelson is now holding two news conferences each week. . . . The statehouse lobbying corps is slowly dwindling as the legislative session becomes more deadlocked and remaining issues are mostly political. . . . Legislators are so flattered by the occasional television cameramen who discover that they are in session that the cameramen are allowed to wander around the chambers although no one else is permitted there. . . .

Do the politicians count as expenditures, for reporting purposes, the generous amounts they spend for mass distribution of holiday greeting cards? . . . Some of the Democrats recently named to local judgeships in Republican counties by Gov. Nelson will face tough fights for reelection. . . . More Wisconsin business corporations are hiring lecturers to tell their employees about the importance of politics and government and participation in public affairs. . . .

Charlie House Article Pleases

Mr. Charles House, Appleton Post-Crescent: Dear Mr. House,

I have just finished reading your article about the real Santa Claus and it certainly is deserving of comment. I enjoyed it so much and read it immediately to my 9-year-old daughter. We cut the article out and intend keeping it for I am sure we will want to refer to it often. Your explanation was so simple and full of love and understanding; it surely will be appreciated by all who were fortunate enough to read it.

Thank you for your very lovely explanation of Santa Claus.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

If you think this business of being the underdog in world politics doesn't have compensations, wait'll you get a load of the gifts like is bringing home from abroad.

Chicago police say gangland slayers of Roger Touhy "botched" the job. It's the same story in all trades. The old pride of craftsmanship is gone.

Gov. Rockefeller says he'd sell his securities if elected. It'll be a noisy administration. The thunder of inauguration—followed by a crash of the stock market.

A survey says the average Canadian uses the phone 511 time a year, a world record Canadians bitterly resent this report. Only Americans are average.

Add U. S. anti-Castro atrocities: It's rumored a plane will fly over Havana and drop packets of razor blades.

The government says some Swiss wrist watches have strontium 90 in them. It was bound to happen, when those Swiss watch makers started smoking cranberries.

The Northside Kiwanis club has been conducting a drive for the Outagamie County School for the Retarded. From left, Gilbert J. Mauthe, Appleton, chairman of the county-wide organization, receives two checks from Joseph H. Bellin, Kiwanis club drive chairman, and N. Patrick Mares, club president.

Sparta Astronaut Honored by Home Town Friends

Sparta.—(AP)—Capt. Donald Slayton, one of the nation's seven astronauts, had a knife to "cut cheese" on the moon and the well wishes of his friends and neighbors today for his possible trip to the celestial body.

About 300 friends of this southwestern Wisconsin community honored the air force officer Wednesday night at a party here. Capt. Slayton and his wife and son, Kent 2, are spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slayton of nearby Leon.

Mayor Joseph Larson gave Capt. Slayton a gold key to the city. When opened, the key became a knife to "cut cheese on the moon." Slayton also was given a scroll designating him as honorary mayor. Kent was given a $25 savings bond and Mrs. Slayton an overnight bag.

Slayton was a jet test pilot before he volunteered for space flight training.

He is a graduate of Sparta High school and the University of Wisconsin school of engineering. He also flew B25s on 56 missions during World war II.

Grand Chute Tax Rates Range From Low of $16 to High of $37

Vary Above $12 General Charge Depending on School District Costs

A general tax rate of $12 used to meet county, state, per $1,000 of assessed value—vocational school and high school, same as last year, will school transportation and tuition levied against all real estate charges.

Local school tax levies will bring the town of Grand Chute not amount to $178,745, bringing in a high school district. The total to be collected on addition of common school the general tax roll to district levies will raise the $301,784. County obligations total rate from a minimum actually require an additional of $16 in the Triangle district $14,089. That money will be to a maximum of $37.42 in transferred from the town's the McCarthy district, Town general fund.

Clerk Leslie Woldt said.

Rate Exceptions

Costs of operating the town. Exceptions to the general government are borne by in-rate occur in Districts 1 (at comes other than from prop-attached to Appleton for school erty/taxes. The general rate, purposes) and District 9 (Mc which will raise $132,516, is Carthy school—attached to Hortonville for high school purposes).

The general rate is broken down as follows: $4.30 for state tax and $5.67 for county tax, to raise $81,412.39, compared to requirements of $74,346.19 last year; $5.73 for high school tuition and transportation for all areas not in a high school district to raise $49,165.83 for tuition and $5,111.75 for transportation, compared with $45,257.62 and $4,864.14 for those items a year ago; and 17 cents for vocational school tax, to raise $1,781.47, compared with $1,648.18 a year earlier.

District 1 residents will pay a general rate of $5.89, which includes state and vocational school taxes with no high school tuition or transportation charge and a $5.29 county rate. The city school tax rate of $21.66 (to raise $27,018) will make a total tax rate of $27.55 for those residents attached to Appleton for all school purposes.

District 9 Joint will have the same general rates for county, state and vocational school charges, but with an additional $16.98 per $1,000 for its share ($5,504.61) of support of Hortonville High school. Thus, its rate excluding the common school district tax, totals $23.25. With an additional $12.17 rate needed to raise $3,944.15 for McCarthy school, the total rate comes to $37.42.

School district requirements generally are higher than a year ago, Woldt noted, with exception of No. 7, which dropped $1.50.

Assessed valuation of the town went up $390,000 during 1959, from $10,630,000 to $11,043,045, which will raise $4,700 more at the same rates. The general $12 rate (with the two exceptions) will raise $132,516, Woldt said. Transfers will be made from the general fund to provide the needed $142,976.

Rates to be paid in each school district are:

Treasurer Announces

18,015 City Tax Bills Go Into Mail Saturday; Will Furnish $5,056,637

City tax bills — 18,015 of them — will be placed in the mail Saturday by City Treasurer Ray L. Feuerstein. They will raise $5,056,637 to cover spending by the city, county and state as outlined in the 1960 city budget. It is estimated the number of bills is about 1,000 more than a year ago. This year's total will yield $372,797 more than a year ago. Feuerstein said the mailing will consist of 16,427 real estate and 1,588 personal property bills.

Ends Night Work

Property owners paying in full must observe a deadline of Feb. 28. Those paying in installments must observe due dates of Jan. 31, April 30 and July 31. Real estate bills under $60 may not be paid in installments. Feuerstein's office will be open to those wishing to pay the taxes in 1959 for income tax purposes on this schedule next week: Monday through Wednesday, 9 a. m. to noon and 1 to 4 p. m., and Thursday, 9 a. m. to noon.

Placement of bills in the mail will end a week of night work for Feuerstein's office staff. The last batch of envelopes were being sealed this morning. The $5,056,637 is comprised of $4,804,525 in real estate and personal property taxes, $251,964 in special improvements assessments and $147 in delinquent water bills.

All Get More It will be divided this way: $2,434,092 for city schools, including the vocational school; $1,554,564 for the city council; $747,393 for the Outagamie county board; $20,387 for the Calumet county board; $49,067 for the state and $251,964 for special assessments' sinking funds.

Mystery Surrounds Story of the Magi

stone had a miraculous nature, the wise men took some of the flame with them to their homes. They kept the fire burning continuously. If it ever went out, they returned to the pit to replenish it.

Fire Worship

This fire worship is said to continue to the present day in outlying Persian villages, which may have been the homes of the three kings of the Orient. This worship probably centers around the "eternal fires," similar to those of northern Iraq, where oil seepage on the ground has burned without interruption for centuries.

With their homeward journey, the three wise men faded from the Biblical scene. But they left their memory behind in the holy land.

When the Church of the Nativity was built in its present form in the sixth century, a mosaic over the main entrance depicted the three wise men with the newborn child Jesus.

During the Persian invasion of Palestine in 614, A.D., the Persians destroyed most Christian holy places in the region, including Jerusalem's Church of the Holy Sepulchre. When they reached the Church of the Nativity, however, they halted at the sight of the three wise men in Persian dress above the door. Assuming this building must have a connection with Persia, they spared it.

Because three wise men once made the long journey from Persia to Bethlehem, the Church of the Nativity became the only Christian shrine spared from destruction for 15 centuries.

When the wise men entered Bethlehem, they went to the "House of Joseph," not to the manger where Christ was born. Local traditions say the holy family moved from the manger to a house on the eastern slopes of the town before the wise men arrived. A little Franciscan chapel sits on the site of the House of Joseph today.

After paying homage to Jesus, the wise men returned home. They bypassed Jerusalem to avoid another encounter with King Herod.

City of Saba

References to the Magi after they left Bethlehem are few. The Italian traveler Marco Polo, who visited Persia in the 13th century, was told the three wise men had returned to their home city of Saba and later were buried there in a beautiful tomb.

On their journey home, according to the legend Marco Polo heard, the wise men carried a closed box given them by the infant Jesus. When they opened the box, they found in it a stone. Thinking the stone worthless, they threw it into a pit where it burst into fire. Realizing at last that the

Sentence Two For Burglary

Men Caught Early Tuesday at Kaukauna Station

Two men, surprised while burglarizing a Kaukauna service station early Tuesday morning, have received sentences after pleading guilty to burglary and theft charges.

Wayne G. Duval, 20, of 836 S. Chestnut avenue, Green Bay, was sentenced to three years probation on the burglary charge and to 30 days' in jail for theft.

Nelson A. Weeder, 22, who gave his address as 235 N. Jefferson street, Green Bay, was sentenced to one to five years at the state prison, Waupun, for burglary and three months in jail for theft. The sentences will run concurrently.

The men were arrested at 2:30 a. m. Tuesday while attempting a burglary at Neck's Service station, Highway 41, Kaukauna.

Two Kaukauna patrolmen spotted Duval in a car outside the station. Upon investigation they found Weeder inside. He had just opened the cash register. The men were using a car reported stolen in DePere.

Weeder was on probation for stealing food from an Appleton cafe April 25.

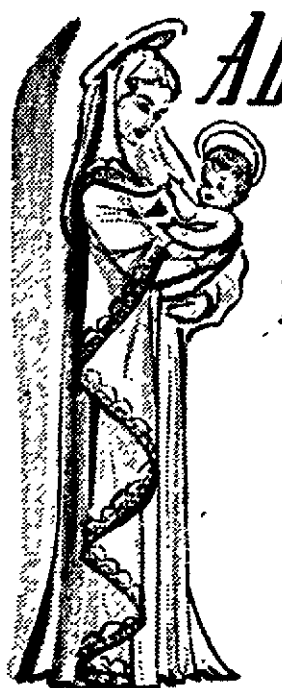

Area People Help Plan GOP Dinner

Three Fox Cities area Republican leaders will be on the committee preparing for the annual Wisconsin GOP Lincoln day dinner to be held in Milwaukee in February.

They are Leonard Pasek, Appleton, Outagamie county party chairman; S. N. Pickard, Neenah, former state GOP finance chairman, and Carl E. Steiger, Oshkosh, former Winnebago county chairman.

The committee for the dinner was appointed by Claude Jasper, Madison, state GOP chairman.

No Merry Christmas In New Philadelphia Telephone Directory

Philadelphia — The latest issue of the Philadelphia telephone book lists 11 Christmas, but not one of them is Merrie, Merry or Mary. The closest you can get to the perfect first name is a Mrs. S. Merriweather Christmas. A Nicki Christmas is listed, but that sounds rather roguish. The same directory has 40 Noels, but none of the first names sounds at all Christmasy. The same goes for three Yules in the book. The evocative name of Holly occurs 12 times, but here too, the reader searches in vain for a first name appropriate to the season. There is a surprise in this category, however—a Holly whose forehandle is Curfew.

One column of names is generously decked with Ivy. You'll find no Kringles, but quite a few persons named Claus. It would be too much to expect to turn up one who is Santa in the bargain.

After Spending Six Months in Sunnyview sanatorium, Mike Mason, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mason, 382 Ahnaip street, Menasha, returned home Tuesday in time for Christmas. His sister, Patricia, loaded him with Christmas presents. His case of active tuberculosis was discovered last spring during the annual TB testing program at Menasha schools. He was sent to the sanatorium in June.

POST CRESCENT News of the Twin Cities Menasha - Neenah

Roads Should be Open in Time for Christmas Eve

State Highways in Good Shape; City Streets Plowed

Neenah — Those who sang about dreaming of a white Christmas had their dreams come true in nightmare proportions.

Tuesday's and Wednesday's snowfall and high wind, which caused considerable drifting and replugged opened roads, put about 10 inches of snow on the level, Leon Morrissey county highway commissioner, reported today.

The county had 42 units working Wednesday night and today to restore the roads to good usable condition, while Neenah had four graders and five plows pushing back snow and Menasha sent five units out on the road clearing job.

Rubbish Pickup Too

Neenah had three graders and four trucks clearing streets from 10 p. m. Tuesday to noon Wednesday. It kept the graders going in the afternoon but had to put the trucks into picking up rubbish since the Christmas holiday caused a double pickup of rubbish and garbage for Wednesday in addition to the snow plowing.

After the snow had stopped falling and the wind eased up on the drifting, five plows and four graders went out at 12:01 this morning to plow the streets and then to return to widen them. All roads should be opened and widened by noon today.

Snow removal will start about 1 a. m. Saturday if the weather stays all right.

Menasha Plowing

In Menasha, crews were to have finished plowing all streets by noon today. City Engineer M. J. Noth said.

Main thoroughfares were plowed first, then intersections and side streets. Street plowing crews began work at 2 a. m. today.

Work Wednesday began at 2 a. m. and extended until 5 p. m. After rest and supper, Noth said, two crews worked from 9 p. m. Wednesday on streets until this morning.

When the street plowing is finished, sand, salt and stone chips will be applied to halt ice formation at intersections and prevent accidents.

Menasha, as many other cities, overdraw its snow removal funds last winter, one of the severest in years. Money for snow removal the end of this year mainly has been taken from construction accounts set up for street work not able to be performed this year.

Five plowing units and the front end loader worked on Menasha streets. Bridges and Industry of Neenah and Menasha will pause for the Christmas holiday Friday but attention to the season has been called for some weeks with outdoor displays. The display above, features a huge Christmas tree topped by a lighted cross at the old Mill street bridge site in Menasha, backed by a grey sky and a section of Menasha's industrial area.

Children and Candlelight

Services Tonight, Christmas Day By Churches Mark Christ's Birth

Neenah — Chimes will ring and some will have midnight services.

Trinity Lutheran church of Neenah will have a children's Christmas eve service at 4 p. m. and again at 7 p. m. Its Christmas day services will be at 8:15 and 10:15 a. m.

The lower grades of the church's school will present the 4 p. m. program and the upper grades the evening program.

St. Thomas Episcopal church will have a carol service at the manger with presentation of gifts by the children at 4 p. m. today. It will have a carol service at 11:15 followed by a worship service at 11:45 p. m. The second eucharist of Christmas will be at 10 a. m. on Christmas day.

Two Services Tonight

Martin Luther Evangelical Lutheran church will have two Christmas eve services tonight. The 6 p. m. service will be by the kindergarten of the Sunday school plus all of the parochial school children. The 7:30 p. m. service will be given by the Sunday school classes and the sixth through eighth grades of the parochial school.

Communion will be observed at the Christmas day service at 9 a. m.

"Christmas Everywhere" will be the theme of the 6:30 p. m. Christmas eve program of the pupils of the Trinity Lutheran school of Menasha. A Christmas festival service will be held at 9 a. m. on Christmas day.

The day school children of Grace Evangelical Lutheran church will have a Christmas eve service at 6:30 tonight while the Sunday school children's service will be at 9 a. m. on Christmas day.

Services at St. Timothy Lutheran church will be a pageant at 7 p. m. and a Christmas eve candlelight service at 11 p. m. tonight. New members will be received at the Christmas day festival worship service at 10 a. m. The Sunday school of Whit-

Neenah Man Gets Patent For Hanger

Neenah — Stanley E. Staffeld, 708 Maple street, Neenah, a retired Neenah police squad car driver, has received United States patent No. 2,902,173, entitled "clothes hanger."

Staffeld's hanger, of compact and inexpensive construction, enables a number of pairs of trousers to be hung separately and supported in a way as to prevent their wrinkling and allow quick removal or insertion.

The hanger body has a number of parallel, spaced apart slots which hold bottom of trousers by the cuffs. In the slots are stationary and movable jaws, the latter clamping and unclamping on to the trouser cuffs.

Staffeld filed for his patent July 9. His application consists of five claims of originality.

3 Take Out Papers for Neenah Posts

Two Seek School Commissioner Jobs; 1 for County Board

Neenah — Three candidates for office in the April election took out nomination papers.

Mrs. Tollette Hochholzer Wednesday for election to the offices they now hold.

Seeking return to the school board are Mrs. Marian Tollette, 749 Elm street, and Frank X. Hochholzer, 159 Richard street.

Hochholzer is vice chairman of the board and has served as a school commissioner from 1950 to 1955 and then each year since 1956.

Mrs. Tollette is the board's secretary and is completing her second term as a school commissioner. She was elected for the first time in 1954.

The third candidate is Raymond Gischia, 849 Zemlock avenue, who is seeking a return to the Winnebago county board as the Sixth ward supervisor.

He was appointed last April for the unexpired term of Glen Christensen who moved from the ward.

Candidates have until Jan. D-X filling station at Third and DePere streets at 12:24 a. m. today.

Christmas Carol Singing was led by Mayor Chester S. Bell late Wednesday afternoon as city hall office employees gathered for a Christmas fellowship hour. Cookies and coffee were provided from the sunshine fund to which the employees had contributed.

Gilbert's Expansion Nearing Completion

4-Part Program Includes Finishing Room Addition, Paper Machine, Generator

Menasha — Gilbert Paper company's current 4-part expansion and modernization program is nearing completion, with about three weeks of work remaining on the new 2-story finishing room addition.

Plant Engineer Edward C. "Casey" Nelson said the new finishing room space should be in use about mid-January. Work in it now includes installation of air conditioning, fire sprinklers and electrical wiring.

The upper floor of the 72 by 150 foot addition will be used for sorting, counting, inspection and packing of Gilbert's bond paper stock. The basement will be used for storage of cartons and paper.

Final Step

Gilbert's program began June 12, when the No. 2 paper machine, of 1892 vintage, was removed from the machine room. Its replacement, built in Appleton, began making paper July 20.

Also included in the program were replacement of a turbine-generator for more electricity and reconditioning of one boiler. Both of these were completed in the June - July annual shutdown of the plant.

Construction of the finishing room addition was begun the week of July 15 by Flour Brothers Construction company, Oshkosh.

Cuban Police Say 2 Plots Broken Up

Havana — Thousands of Cubans flocked today to pray for peace and relief from tensions mixed with the traditional festivity of Christmas and New Year on this island.

Amid the festivities, Cuban police announced they had crushed two plots against the government.

They said one plot was to assassinate Miguel A. Quevedo, publisher of the magazine Bohemia and a strong supporter of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Three men, including an ex-Batista policeman, were arrested in this case, after authorities said, police monitoring a telephone call to Miami heard them receiving instructions from ex-Sen. Rodolfo Masferrer. Officials said the assassination attempt was planned as the first against a number of leading figures in the Castro regime.

In another case, Havana police arrested eight men and two women on charges of plotting armed opposition against Castro. Reports said arms and uniforms from Batista forces were seized.

crosswalks were hand-shoveled.

Winnebago county started 42 units out at 1 a.m. this morning. All state roads should be in pretty good shape by noon today as well as those county trunks, such as A and P, which carry the heaviest travel.

These roads have been plowed, widened, graded and salted to cut the glare ice and the salt has been working this morning, Morrissey added. The county roads also will be opened and are being widened but may be somewhat slippery today. These also are being salted.

County crews began working Tuesday afternoon when the snow started and worked into the night. Work resumed at 3 a.m. Wednesday and kept going until 8 p.m. The crews were back in service at 1 a.m. this morning.

Town roads should be open also by noon or early afternoon today, Morrissey thought. Crews got onto the town roads about 2:30 to 3 a.m. today.

The beach areas along the lakes were the hardest hit because the drifts piled high on them while in the open areas it tended to blow across the road.

Two Complain of Minor Injuries After Accidents

Neenah — Two persons complained of minor injuries as the result of separate accidents in Neenah Wednesday. Taken to Theda Clark hospital in a squad car was John O'Leary, 15, 400 Eleventh street, for treatment for a bump on the forehead.

He was a passenger in a car driven by Michael Versteegen, 626 Stevens street, which was headed east on Lincoln street and was involved in a collision with a car driven north on Fifth street by Henry Klutz, 74, 142 Fifth street. The accident happened at 11:45 a.m. Wednesday.

The rear of a car driven by Oliver L. Eckrich, 44, 925 Higgins avenue, was damaged and he complained of a sore neck after his car was hit in the rear by one driven by James Hawley, 207 Crescent drive, at the Oak street and Washington avenue intersection at 5:10 p.m. Wednesday.

Light of the World—

In Him was life; and the life was the light of men.

And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not.

John 1: 4-5

Symbols of the Celebration of Christmas in church ceremonies throughout the world is the candle. It is significantly used in the advent wreath as preparation for the observance of Christmas begins. Lighting the last candle in the advent wreath, right, is Jim Moder at St. Margaret Mary Catholic church. The acolyte at St. Paul's English Lutheran church, left, lighting an altar candle before the worship service is Michael Belling. Music, a traditional part of most church services, receives added emphasis as voices of choristers, bearing candles in the processional, blend in the songs of Christmas. Among the choir members at First Methodist church is Cindy Engdahl, center.

Holstein Tour Set for Jan. 12

Visit to Farms to Precede Dinner in Allenville Area

Oshkosh — Scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 12, is a county-wide Holstein breeders tour. Three or four farms will be visited, all in one general area of the county.

Proposed farms for visitation were discussed by directors of the county Holstein breeders association when they met recently. Louis Jensen, town of Clayton, and Phil Grundy, Oshkosh, officers of the association, will make the final selections.

Plans are for a late noon luncheon that day in the Allenville area. After this will be a schooling on evaluation of dairy animals based on information in a sales catalog.

Short Course On Landscaping To be Offered

Oshkosh — A short course on landscaping will be conducted by the county agricultural extension office next month to help commercial nurserymen, lawn specialists, garden center salesmen, tree pruners and municipal park and cemetery employees.

A specific program for discussion is being planned for each of the three 6:30 p.m. meetings, County Agent V. W. Peroutky said today. The meetings will be on Jan. 4, 11 and 18. Specialists from the University of Wisconsin extension service will cooperate with the county office in conducting the course which will be held at Oshkosh.

Carols Ring Out From Neenah City Hall

Neenah — Christmas carols rang out from the council chambers of the city hall late Wednesday afternoon as city hall office employees gathered for their second annual Christmas songfest.

Mayor Bell led the singing and Bonnie Franz of the city clerk's staff presided at the refreshments table. A sunshine fund contribution from the city hall employees paid for the refreshments.

Ray Sanderfoot is cubmaster of the troop which is sponsored by the Neenah-Menasha Association for Retarded children.

Death Town Pauses for Yule Season

Frejus, France — A worker in the relief center here in Frejus placed a toy and a small bag of candy into the outstretched hands of a wondering child.

"It's for you, for Christmas," the worker explained. The little girl smilingly hugged the package and hurried away.

This scene will be repeated many times today and tomorrow as the people of Frejus pause in the aftermath of tragedy to give the 2,000 children of the area a Christmas.

It will not be the sort of Christmas they had looked forward to.

The grim work of searching for the last victims of the Malspasset dam disaster goes on. The official toll stands at 319 dead and 103 missing.

The town beside the Riviera coast and the valley behind it for years will show the mud-stained scars left by the wall of water that rushed through to the Mediterranean when the dam burst on the night of Dec. 2.

No Christmas trees blink gaily from the windows of houses. No shops are decorated.

But the people of France—and many others over the world—are trying to make the season merry for the children.

The Frejus postoffice is swamped with 500 to 600 relief packages a day. Workers say most are gifts for children.

Policemen of The Fox Cities

(This is another in a series of stories on Fox Cities area policemen.) Robert J. Lehman, 31, of 878 Higgins avenue, Neenah, joined the Neenah police force Nov. 1, 1951, and was promoted to squad car driver in 1955.

He is married and has one son. He saw service in the navy. Prior to joining the police force, he was employed at Marathon division of American Can company.

New Books at Library

'Shalom' Describes Jewish Refugees' Guest, Adventures

Menasha — "Shalom," in Hebrew, means "peace." The novel "Shalom," by Dean Brellis, describes adventures and relationships of a band of Jewish refugees who leave a detention camp on a freighter bound for the promised land.

"Shalom" portrays vividly the beauty and squalor of refugee existence. The author was hailed as one of the most talented new novelists of 1958. It and many other new fiction is available at Elisha D. Smith public library.

A novel about desegregation in the public schools is "The White Band" by Carter Brooke Jones. It pictures a Southern town at a moment of crisis. "The Fiery Flower" by Paul I. Wellman is a suspenseful novel of an American actress whose plane crashed in the Pacific and who found herself on an exotic island, being cared for by a man and a woman of more than ordinary beauty and height.

"Kitty, My Rib" by E. Jane Mall, is the story of Katharine Luther and her 21 years spent as the devoted wife of Martin Luther, 16th century reformer. "He Had It Made" by Sidney Offit depicts a way of life in the training ground for entertainers, the Catskills resort area.

"Black Spice" by Davenport Steward is a historical novel about the East Indies spice trade in the 19th century. "The Trembling Land" by Robert Christie is a distinguished novel of the West.

Varied Comments by Visitors at New Bank

Tucson, Ariz. — The guest book at the new office of a bank includes these comments:

By a Greenwich Village, N. Y., visitor — "Cool, man, cool."

By a little girl — "If mama lets me make an investment, I would."

By a Tucson attorney — "I am deeply grateful and indebted to your fine bank."

Other new fiction books are "Assignment, Romance" by William Neubauer; "Meter Maid" by Fern Shepard; "The Awakening Heart" by Lee Taylor; "Her Plantation Home" by Georgia Craig; "The Apprenticeship of Duddert Kravitz" by Mordecai Richler; "Border Valley" by C. S. Park; and "No Grave for a Lady" by John Coulson.

Also available at the library is a reprint of A. Conan Doyle's "The Lost World" and "Love Will Come," stories of romance, selected by Aurelia Stowe.

County Stresses Proper Application of Antibiotics

Oshkosh — Considerable educational effort has been on in Winnebago county in the proper application of antibiotics, County Agent Vernon W. Peroutky pointed out today.

Educational meetings on dairy herd health with dairy plant fieldmen, veterinarians and farmers have been conducted by University of Wisconsin specialists and the county agent's office over the last several years.

Recent publicity by federal food and drug administration officials is not alarming to farmers, he mentioned as they have had frequent precautions on the proper methods of using antibiotics. Practically every milkhouse in the county has an instructional sheet displayed for daily reminder.

Individual Farm Tests The most recent advancement in this area of the consumers dairy food guarantee of purity is the accurate but simplified food test for presence of antibiotics. One can learn to run the test in a day, the county agent indicated.

As time passes, antibiotic tests will not only be run on milk and dairy products leaving a processing plant, but individual farm tests may be run on farm milk test samples. Some local dairies have the equipment.

He pointed out veterinarians have saved farmers tremendous capital in the application of antibiotics for livestock ailments.

The university veterinary department has stressed good management in place of any medication. Mastitis in simple terms is a congestion of the mammary system. Medication should be applied only when a need arises for it.

Milk from a cow treated through the teat canal with an antibiotic is regarded clear and pure for human consumption after six milkings, which would be 72 hours. Whenever an intravenous treatment is applied for any ailment, it is 84 hours that the milk should be withheld from human consumption.

The agriculture extension service does not advise antibiotics in the livestock industry unless it is under the direction of a veterinarian. Antibiotics have a valuable place in animal and plant life and the veterinarian may save the life of a valuable cow, Peroutky said.

Kennedy to Make Plea for Tolerance
On Sunday News Show, Newsletter Says

BY JINGO
Green Bay Packer Coach Vince Lombardi will talk about the Colts and Giants in the 15-minute pre-game show Sunday before the national pro football title game. He'll be on NBC-TV at 12:30 p. m. with Coach Buddy Parker of the Steelers and Emcee Chris Schenkel.

Sen. John F. Kennedy will make a broad appeal for religious tolerance in politics early next month on "Meet the Press," a national newsletter reports. Ohio Sen. Frank Lausche reportedly received much favorable mail from a similar plea on the NBC-TV show three years ago.

Ed Wynn, Jerry Colonna, Sterling Holloway, Verna Felton and Kathryn Beaumont provide the voices for Walt Disney's all-cartoon treatment of "Alice in Wonderland," Disney's show for Christmas night on ABC-TV.

Boston Common on Christmas morning will be visited Friday by Dave Garroway's "Today" show. NBC-TV cameras will focus on part of the morning service at historic Park street church in the live telecast.

Bob Thomas Suggests 10 Rules for TV

Specials Saved Day In Lackluster Year Of Series, He Says

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
Hollywood — Now that the super-special TV season is well along, it seems time to assess the rights and wrongs of the system.

The 1959-60 TV year must be a source of satisfaction to Pat Weaver. It was he who conceived the idea of the special (he called "em spectaculars") during his brilliant, brief career as NBC chief. He theorized that viewers would suffer boredom from the weekly diet of series.

What a blessing the special has been this year! Never has the program of series been so lackluster—the steady, violent outpourings of gunslingers, both in chaps and blue serge. The season has seen no truly original series introduced to weekly programming.

The specials have saved the day. Some were bound to be good—there are so many of them. There is still plenty of room for improvement. Perhaps we can devise 10 commandments for special makers, drawing from the hits and errors of the season thus far:

1. Don't be name-crazy. Putting Jack Benny, Eddie Cantor, George Jessel and George Burns on a stage together is not enough. They must have something good to do.
 2. Strive for a different combination of names. Too many stars (Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, etc.) have been seen together too much.
 3. Take time. If it's special, it deserves special care, not sloppy work. Fred Astaire's success shows how adequate rehearsal can pay off.
 4. Spend for writing. A beautifully written version of "Turn of the Screw" with Ingrid Bergman can be a hit while a sloppy job of "The Jazz Singer" with Jerry Lewis can flop.
 5. Be sure it's special. Make sure it's something special. You've got to provide more dimension than having Jimmy Durante or Maurice Chevalier repeat their standard routines.
 6. Don't rely on tape or film. The quality of good specials is the excitement of a Broadway show. Canned stuff robs spontaneity.
 7. Don't underestimate your audience. There are no sticks any more; the folks are getting more hep all the time.
 8. Don't get carried away with scenery. The play is still the thing, especially on the small screen. Let the movies try for scope.
 9. Don't Fear Repeats. But beware of underdoing scenery. Bare stages are okay—if you've got something great to play before them, such as "Our Town."
 10. Don't be afraid to repeat a good thing. The best special warrants re-plays, as with Astaire. A lot of folks may have missed the first showing and many would want to see it again.
- Perhaps we should add another commandment—for networks to lavish some of the same thought and care on the pallid weekly shows that they do on specials.

Don't Be Afraid of Sentiment

• This is reprinted by request. "Only little people fear to display true sentiment," says this author. "Big people usually display warmth and heart." January Reader's Digest tells you how you can free yourself from the crippling fear of being sentimental—in business and in your personal life.

Wisconsin's Health Child's Interests, Safety Important in Toy Buying

CARL N. NEUPERT, M. D.
State Health Officer
"Toyland, joyland . . ." This is the word of the hour as little girl-and-boy lands spring up in stores on main streets and in shopping centers from one end of the state to the other.

All children need toys, but they should be chosen for the child himself, and not the adult who is doing the buying. The ideal toy not only provides fun and enjoyment for the child, but contributes to his development and is safe as well.

First of all, it must interest the child. The wise buyer chooses gifts according to the child's ability to use and appreciate them. Children love and should have playthings that give them a chance to express themselves and to use and develop their creative abilities.

Safety-Tested Toys
Just as important as its educational value is a toy's safety aspects. Many manufacturers now "safety test" toys before they are put on the market. Some of this year's features include:

Toys with smooth surfaces that are practically splinter-proof, toys with rounded corners and edges, playthings of weights designed and selected for pre-school youngsters, toys without movable parts small enough to swallow, and toys that are both non-inflammable and free from poisonous paints or dyes.

In addition, the dolls and other objects for babies and young children should be washable, large, light in weight and of non-brittle material.

Toys are an important part of our children's lives. When we select them with thought and care, they will remain a source of true enjoyment long after this and future Yule seasons have come and gone their way.

Hour of Music On 'Startime' Top Program

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
Tuesday night's Christmas Startime program was a rare and perfect hour of television appealing to eye, ear and spirit. The hour of music was produced with elegance and reverence and with emphasis on the religious meaning of the holy day.

There was the fine singing of the St. Paul's Cathedral Boys' Choir of London, enhanced by closeups of the earnest faces of the youngsters and impressive shots of the great old church.

Marian Anderson's rich contralto contributed some Negro spirituals and "Silent Night." A major portion of the program was devoted to Bach's stirring "Magnificat" played by the New York Philharmonic conducted by Leonard Bernstein and sung by the Schola Cantorum.

Joseph Welch was the host of the program. The sponsor—the Ford Motor Company—eliminated the commercials. This program must be repeated another year.

'Our Town' Opens At Miller Theater

Milwaukee — Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," modern classic of life and death in Grover's Corners (pop. 2,640, plus twins as of May, 1901) opened Tuesday night for a 3-week run at the Fred Miller theater.

Veteran stage actor Tom Tully plays the stage manager, with June Walker as Mrs. Gibbs, mother of the play's young bridegroom. Critics admitted to "some disappointment" in the performance, but found the play still worth seeing.

Looks as if those "21 Beacon Street" shows which start Sunday are going to be reruns of last summer's NBC program. . . . Ethel Merman, Beatrice Lillie (who isn't around TV anywhere near enough), Ray Bolger and Benny Goodman, appearing together ought to make the Jan. 29 Telephone Hour must viewing.

calls," he said. "Not even jokes about the camel. The best offer was $350 for the spinet. I changed the ad to say that a contest winner had articles for sale and that all bids were welcome."

Currently he has sold the spinet for $425, the air purifier for $45—but still no takers for the $300 stuffed camel.

"I still don't know what I'll be stuck for in taxes," he says. "But what on earth am I going to do with a 5-foot stuffed camel?"

Lavish Shows Scheduled for Holiday Week

TV Networks to Broadcast Various Religious Services
BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
New York — Television will celebrate the Christmas and New Year holidays in lavish style during the next week.

Tonight and Friday morning, the religious aspects of the season will be emphasized. NBC will present its annual "Amahl and the Night Visitors," Gian Carlo Menotti's opera by the NBC Opera company, tonight at 7 p. m. At 10 p. m. ABC will telecast an Episcopal service from New York's Church of the Ascension and at 10:30 CBS will televise the service from the National Cathedral (also Episcopal) in Washington.

At 11 p. m. NBC will broadcast the pontifical midnight mass from St. Patrick's (Roman Catholic) cathedral in New York and at 11:30 p. m. CBS will show Catholic services from St. George's church, St. Louis, Mo. NBC will broadcast Christmas morning services from National Cathedral in Washington from 9 to 10 a. m. Friday.

Friday evening ABC will rerun Walt Disney's cartoon "Alice in Wonderland" and CBS will show the "Desilu Revue," featuring 16 members of Lucille Ball's workshop theater plus a raft of guest stars, including Desi and Lasse.

Saturday features sports programs on NBC and CBS during much of the day—football, basketball, motorboat races, and there is more football and professional basketball on NBC Sunday.

On Tuesday there is the Cyd Charisse special (NBC, 8:30 to 9:30 p. m.) and on Wednesday night the Steel Hour presents "Act of Terror," with George Grizzard (CBS), 9 to 10 p. m.

Thursday night, of course, will be devoted to New Year's eve parties to be enjoyed vicariously and without hangover: "The Big Party" Dick Clark's; Guy Lombardo and the Jack Paar show.

Maureen O'Hara Will Sing in New Musical

New York — Film actress Maureen O'Hara has been signed to star in the musical, "Christine," due to go in rehearsal in February.

Miss O'Hara was a concert singer when she first was discovered, but in her acting career has never been cast in church, St. Louis, Mo. NBC a singing role.

Look Inside Kremlin Walls Reveals Surprising Things

Religious Art Treasures were among the beautifully-preserved pieces viewed by newsmen for the first time recently inside the Kremlin walls in Moscow. Places visited included historic churches such as the Church of the Resurrection of St. Lazarus, the oldest building in Moscow, erected in the 14th century. Guides told newsmen other treasures from Moscow's past will be put on display in the future.

Flemming Deplores Alleged Decrease in Water Fluoridation

Washington — Sec. of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming expressed concern Wednesday about what he called a decrease in the use of fluoride in drinking water as a tooth-decay preventive.

He told a news conference that although the population of the nation's cities has climbed about 74 million since 1956 the increase in use of fluoride has reached only 4,200,000.

"If this trend continues," he said, "a rapidly increasing number of children in this country will be deprived of safe, effective and inexpensive protection against one of the most widespread diseases — tooth decay."

When a reporter asked why some cities have refused to adopt the use of fluoridated water, he replied:

"I imagine the principal issue is the question whether its use is harmful."

Then he added: "The evidence definitely points in the other direction."

Flemming said "virtually all scientific and professional health organizations" including the American Dental Association and the American Medical Association, have urged fluoridation of public water supplies.

Solitary Confinement Fails, Youth Sent to Michigan Prison

Battle Creek, Mich. — "You have had an opportunity to become a good, upright citizen but failed," said Circuit Judge Alfonso Magnotta as he sentenced 17-year-old Richard Lee Babic to 7 1/2 to 15 years in prison.

Young Babic's "opportunity" came through a 45-day solitary jail confinement ordered by the judge in September in the climax of a long police record Babic built up as a juvenile offender.

Judge Magnotta ordered Babic on a diet of bread, water, milk and vitamin pills and barred all visitors save a minister and doctor. The only reading matter permitted was the Bible.

Judge Magnotta said the solitary term, the first of several meted to juvenile delinquents, was designed to give Babic a chance to think things through. When he came out, Babic said: "I will go straight and not mess up again."

That confinement was for a burglary. Saturday Babic was arrested when police ran him down in a stolen car. He was sentenced yesterday for unlawfully driving away a car.

Welfare Unit Seeks Payment On Poet's Home

Candia, N.H. — The statues are written in several meters than that employed by the late poet Samuel Walter Foss, who penned:

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road
"And be a friend of man..."

That house, Foss' birthplace and inspiration of the oft-quoted lines, faces sale to satisfy claims of the state welfare department, it was disclosed Sunday.

The last occupant owner, a widow of 90, died a year ago at the county farm in Brentwood.

Foss died about 50 years ago.

The welfare department had met taxes and repairs, but the property — a two-story farmhouse and extensive farm buildings on some 20 acres — has deteriorated extensively. The department seeks $2,000.

No heir has put in a claim for the property which has a far higher estimated value than the amount of the lien.

The widow's husband, reportedly was a relative of the poet.

A monument on the farmhouse lawn reminds the many visitors the poet's son Saxton was killed in World War I and buried at bloody Belleau

Asian Highway Planned to Go Quarter Way Around World

New York — A highway which will reach almost a quarter of the way around the world from Ankara to Saigon and Singapore and will follow trails blazed by Marco Polo, Genghis Kahn and Alexander the Great, is entering the final planning stage, Engineering News-Record reports.

The 7,000-mile-long road will run from Turkey, through Teheran, Iran; Kabul, Afghanistan; Lahore, Pakistan; New Delhi and Calcutta, India; Dacca, Pakistan; Rangoon, Burma, and split at Bangkok, Thailand, one arm going through Indo-China to Saigon, the other stretching to Singapore, at the end of the Malay peninsula.

The route will traverse deserts, plains, mountains, jungles, rain forests and river deltas. The weather will vary from arid desert heat and humid jungle heat to the intense cold of mountain passes. The eastern half of the highway will go through monsoon areas.

The highway will be designed to accommodate the broad variety of Asian traffic — automobiles, trucks, buses, bicycles, cycle rickshaws, motor scooters, pack trains, pedestrians and carts and wagons drawn by horses, donkeys, bullocks, camels and human beings. Speeds will go from two miles per hour on up,

$282 Billion Gross Income for Americans

Washington — Individual income tax returns show Americans received last year adjusted gross income of $282 billion, the internal revenue service reported Wednesday.

The total was $1,700,000,000 higher than the 1957 figure.

After credits, the income tax liability reported by individuals for 1958 was $34,243,735,000, nearly the same as in 1957. The number of returns filed last year dropped 1.1 per cent to 59,171,000.

Parents Welcome Students for Yule

After a gay pre-holiday whirl of parties and dances at colleges and universities throughout the country, Fox Cities students have returned home to spend Christmas and New Year's with families and visit former high school classmates.

A student at the University of Wisconsin, Miss Vicki Spooner, is spending Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spooner, 72 Garden court. Two students at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., Judy and Marcia Manier, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex J. Manier, 1236 E. Opechee street. Judy is a freshman and Marcia is a sophomore.

In Good Taste Pictures Would be Fine Gift

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of ours is having her baby christened soon. When she invited us, she asked my husband if he would bring along his camera and take pictures. (My husband is an amateur photographer.) We had planned to give a nice gift to the baby. However, since she has asked my husband to take pictures, we thought we might give the pictures as a present. It will cost my husband quite a bit to buy film, flash bulbs and to have the film developed in slides. In addition we thought we would give a hand-viewer with the pictures. Would it be proper to give this as a gift? I do not feel that we can charge her for these pictures, and to give a present a the baby in addition would be more than we care to spend.

Answer: The pictures will be a very suitable gift. Tell your friend on the day of the christening that as soon as the pictures are ready you will send them as your gift to the baby.

Back Seat Passenger

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it ever good manners to let a friend sit in the back seat of the car alone while the husband and wife who own the car sit together up front?

Answer: If they are merely giving her a lift for a short distance, that would be all right. But if they are going for a drive of any distance, it would be very rude indeed. There is, however, one exception: If going on a real trip over unknown roads and the wife is an expert map reader, it would then be permissible, but should be explained.

Wear Hat

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married for the second time at the home of my daughter. There will be about 30 guests present. The time, 2 o'clock in the afternoon. I am going to wear a royal blue suit. Must I wear a hat?

Answer: Correctly, you should wear a hat.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-22, entitled, "Names and Signatures," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E.P., care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

Miss Freiberg Tell Troth of Miss Freiberg, T. F. Christie

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Freiberg, Fond du Lac, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Joyce Louise, to Thomas F. Christie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Christie, 536 N. Drew street.

Both young people are graduates of Lawrence college. Miss Freiberg was president of Sigma Alpha Iota and was elected to Pi Kappa Lambda. She was also a member of Delta Gamma. She is employed in the music department of the West Allis Public school system.

Her fiancé was a member of Beta Theta Pi, Alpha Phi Omega and Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia. He is head of the music department of the Weyauwega Public school system.

A June wedding is planned.

Your Problems

Sister With Five Children Embarrasses Rest of Family

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: My sister probably doesn't have time to read your column, she's so busy having babies, but I promise she'll see it if you give her some sensible advice.

Mary is expecting her sixth child in April. This is four too many. She's ruining her health and depriving herself and her family of things they ought to have. When they visit us I hope our neighbors don't see them because they are so shabbily dressed — everyone in make-overs and hand-me-downs.

They make a big show of how "happy" they are, but we know better. It's not possible to be happy when the work is piled to the ceiling and the bills are unpaid. The rest of us have three children and our hands are full, so who does she think she's kidding? Please give her some of your frank advice. — Spokeswoman for the Family

Dear Spokeswoman: Mary didn't ask for my advice and I'll bet a beat-up bathinette she didn't ask for yours, either. So, why don't we both mind our own business?

Since you wrote, however, I have a few words that you can tack up on your tiara. Mothers of six children often manage better than those with one or two. The kids pitch in and learn to share. Hand-me-downs and make-overs never killed anyone. A cashmere sweater has never been known to build character. The trouble with most kids today is they have too much, not too little.

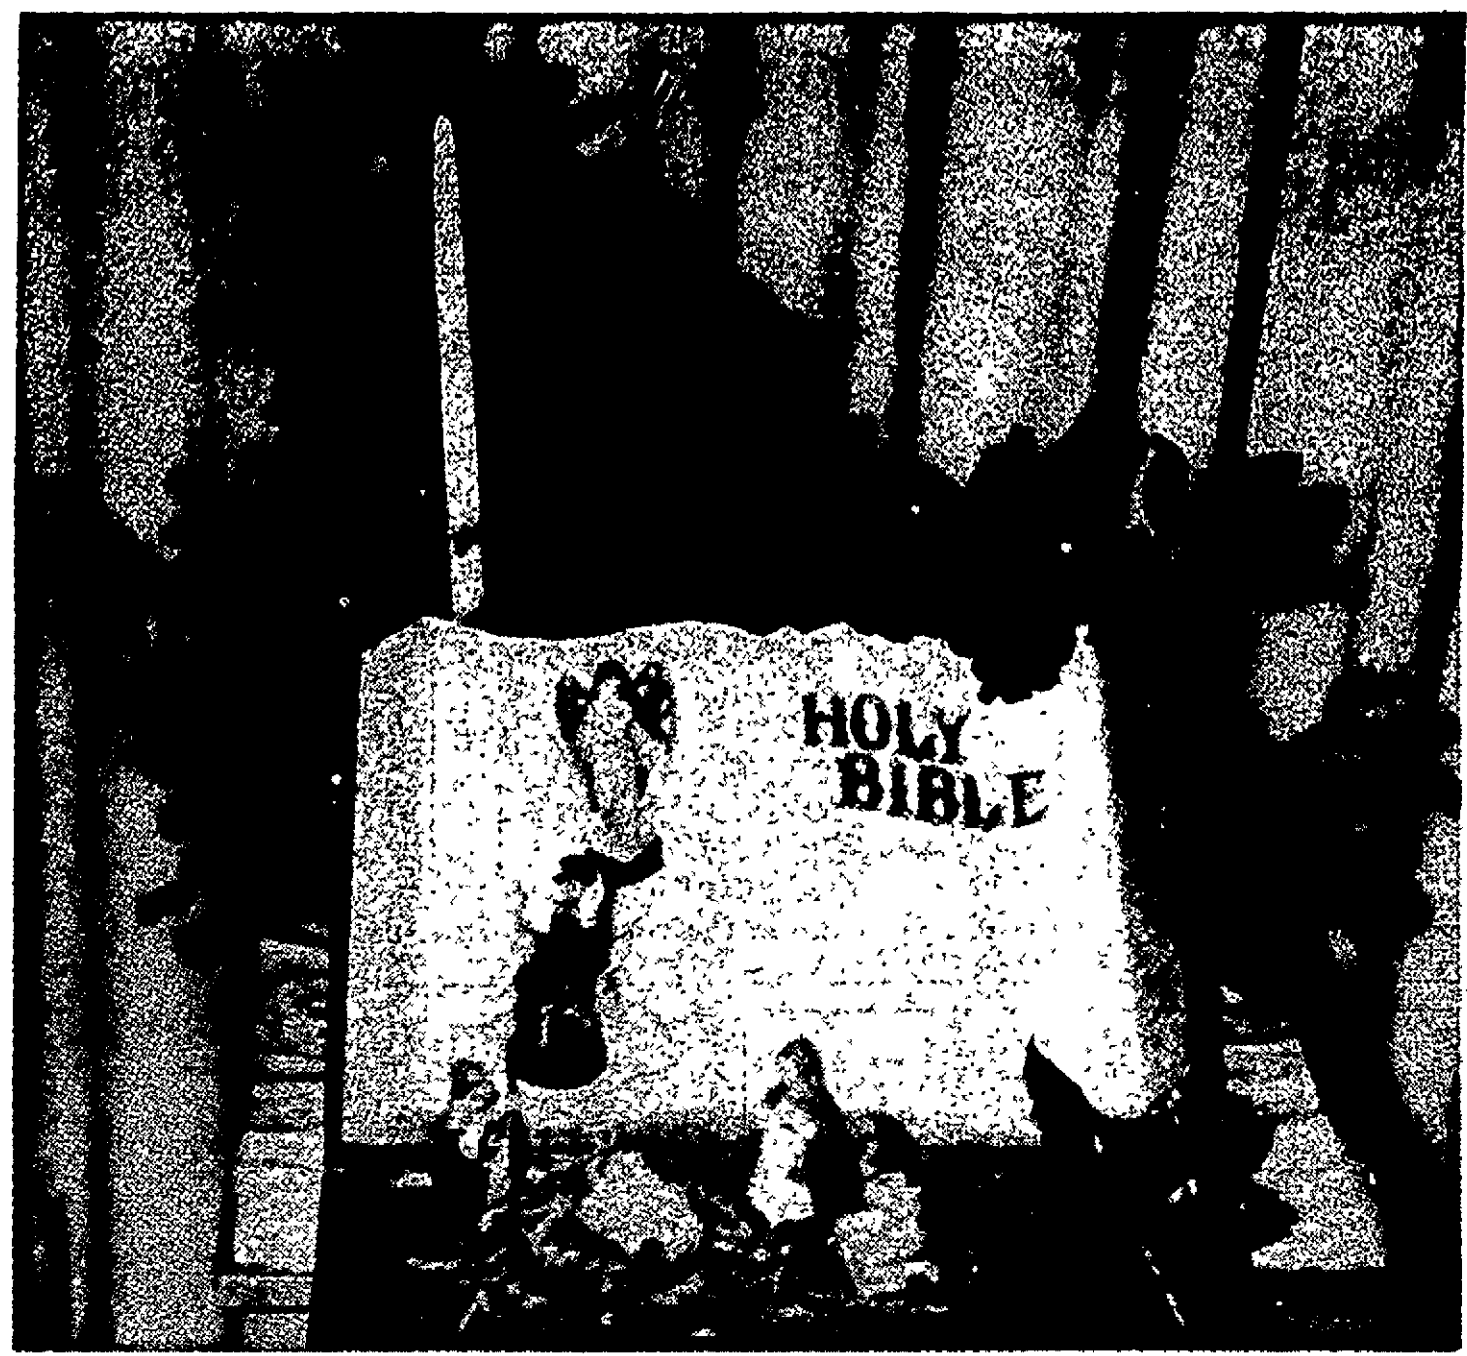

Mary has a doctor to advise her on the physical aspect of childbearing. I'm sure she's in close touch with him, so why don't you and the rest of the tribe relax?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column today was downright ridiculous. It's the one where you advised the wife to stay in the guest room until her husband moved the retriever out of the bedroom. You told her the dog ought to sleep in the basement or the breezeway.

Don't you know a man can get a good wife by snapping at his fingers? All he has to do is let the word out that he's interested and the line forms immediately. A good hunting dog costs $250.

I say let the wife sleep in the breezeway. The dog might take cold out there. — Colorado Sam

Dear Sam: I have a message for you from the wives.

Miss Griesbach attended Hortonville Union High school and Appleton Vocational school. She is employed at the F. W. Woolworth company. Her fiancé is a graduate of Appleton High school and is working at the Red Owl Food store in Neenah.

Some Youngsters Get Tired Easily

BY ANGELO PATRI

"What can we do with our small son, 7, who likes to be teased but hates to be teased in his turn? He does not finish a job. For example he colors only part of the picture, stops short and looks about him or begins fiddling with something else. In school he loses the place and is never ready when he is called on to read. What's the matter with him?"

He is only 7 years old. True, most 7-year-olds can stick to a task until it is finished, provided it is not too hard or too much for their span of attention. But some cannot and this boy seems to be one. He is not, apparently, 7 years old physically and has not developed the power that sustains attention.

The first thing to do is to have the family physician, preferably the pediatrician, examine him carefully. He might profit by medical attention. Then accept the fact that he tires easily.

Feels 'All In'

This is shown by his stopping work before he is through with the job and losing the place in his reading. He feels "all in" and seeks relief by letting his mind roam. He will do better

If the teacher will let him sit beside a child he likes, give him a "finder" — (a slip of stiff paper about an inch wide and the length of the page width) — to help him keep the place, that would help. He will still tire and when the teacher sees this she would do well to let him read his stint and allow him to turn to another kind of activity, something he can do with his hands and which will be no strain on his nervous system.

Some of these little ones have so little reserve power, tire so easily, that a half day of school is all they can take. For them the best program is one that allows them to do their main lesson early in the morning session, take up a piece of handwork, change again to another major lesson, so relieving tension. They need a rest period after lunch, then freedom under supervision, for the afternoon.

HIS AND HERS —

BY MURIEL STAFFORD, GRAPHOLOGIST

wishes for a very speedy husband doesn't need her

Unneeded Wife

"... What does a woman of 58 do when she thinks her husband doesn't need her any more?"

What does he need and how are you failing him? A comparison of your handwritings should give you some clues.

Your husband's writing is angular, small-sized. His pen angles quickly yet forcefully across the page. He works hard and worries more than you realize. He's also sensitive. He needs appreciation and cooperation, but may often seem antagonistic especially when anxious.

You are probably one of his greatest worries. You write slowly and heavily with pointed letter tops, revealing a stubborn, resistant nature.

He's no angel but he's essentially sincere and loyal. Be kind and seek to cooperate. Try to make things pleasant for him instead of finding fault.

If you reassure him and speak affectionately instead of blaming him, he will be more likely to speak to you of his worries. Listen sympathetically. Be considerate and tactful and you may find that he needs you very much!

Above all, quit feeling sorry for yourself! To feel abused and self-righteous will make you bad company. Try to create a cheerful home and provide good meals. This will go a long way towards making you feel "needed."

Miss Stafford we comes letters from her readers. They cannot be acknowledged but the most interesting ones will be used in her column.

Merry Makers

For adding to the "merry" in merry-making this Christmas Eve, borrow these bits of old-fashioned fun and folklore:

Give a cat in your home a second supper during the evening. If you do not keep a cat, find one and feed it. For should a cat meow on Christmas Eve, bad luck is certain to follow.

So that your family will not want in the coming year, leave a loaf of bread on the kitchen table after the evening meal is cleared away.

Fill a child's shoe with oats and set it on your doorstep. That way, you make sure of a visit from Santa and his reindeer.

At the stroke of midnight, wish long enough and wish invite each member of your household to toast and eat an apple. The custom holds a promise of good health and good cheer on the morrow. Then, go outdoors and sit beneath a pine tree. If you wish long enough and wish hard enough, you will hear the angels sing—or so people of many lands believe. 'Tis good cheer on the morrow. who hear are thrice merry. Then, go outdoors and sit thrice blessed.

Lets of warm wishes from all of us to all of you!

We sincerely hope your holiday season is something to sing about!

Neighbors Gather at Holidays

The holiday spirit is revealed in numerous Appleton neighborhoods as every year the residents gather for Christmas caroling, potluck suppers and a visit from Santa Claus.

This year is no exception. On Dec. 17, open houses for the adults and a party for the children was held by residents of Cherry court. A community Christmas tree was site of the festivities.

A party was held Sunday by the residents of Glenwood acres in the backyards of the John Cannon and Ralph Bohl residences. A songfest began the evening's entertainment and the appearance of Santa Claus and distribution of gifts climaxed the neighborhood party.

River drive residents gathered Monday evening around the Christmas tree at the entrance of the drive to sing and exchange gifts. Children of the drive donned collars and ties and entertained with holiday musical selections. After the visit from Santa, a potluck supper was held.

At 6 p. m. tonight, Bellaire court neighbors will gather around the holiday tree to climax the round of neighborhood parties.

The Residents of Cherry court held their annual holiday party Dec. 17 around the community Christmas tree. Joining in the Yule festivities, with voices raised on high are, from left, Lynn Dietz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dietz and Paula and Jeffrey Karrow, children of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Karrow.

Men's Dorms Home For 2 Faculty Wives

Cincinnati—If you were a young woman, how would you like to live in a college dormitory containing 400 men—and not another gal?

It's being done at the University of Cincinnati, in two dorms. Gail Dunlop is the wife of John Dunlop, assistant dean of men and head residence counselor at French and Dabney halls.

Margaret Clark's husband, David Clark, is an instructor in journalism, adviser to university publications, and resident counselor at French hall. "I wouldn't recommend it for a middle-aged couple," Mrs. Clark says. "My four younger sisters are delighted," says Mrs. Dunlop. "They love to visit me."

Mrs. Dunlop has become an unofficial advisor to the 400 boys in the dormitory where she and her husband have an apartment. She is fast becoming an expert on engagement rings and gifts for mothers.

Mrs. Dunlop says her 3-month-old son, Stewart, has 400 "uncles."

"After a dance last spring great-grandchildren and the boys toasted the baby we three great-great-grandchildren were expecting and told my husband there would be 400 'uncles' pacing the floor with him when I went to the hospital."

She said some of them had offered to babysit, but her sisters take over when she and her husband go out.

The Clarks live on the third floor of French hall. Every time she walks into the building, the public address system booms:

"There will be a lady on the third floor."

"I was really quite embarrassed at first, because the boys stared at me so much when I was coming in and going out of the hall," Mrs. Clark says. "But I'm getting over it now."

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD
U.S. Masters Team Champion

When you're in a difficult contract, try to think of some favorable disposition of the missing cards that will allow you to make your bid. When you've worked out the hand that an opponent must hold, go ahead and play the hand on the assumption that the cards are just where you want them to be. The worst that can happen, usually, is that you'll go down two tricks instead of only one.

West opened a spade, and South won the first trick with the ace. Things looked pretty hopeless, since South was apparently sure to lose a spade, a diamond, and two clubs. South thought things over for a few seconds, however, and decided that he could make the contract if East had the singleton or doubleton ace of diamonds. The odds were against this, but there was no harm in playing for it. Hence south drew trumps with the ace and king, led a diamond from dummy to his king, and then led a diamond back. He ducked the second diamond in dummy, hoping that East would have to play the ace anyway.

Luck was with South. East had to take the ace of diamonds, and declarer later discarded two club losers on dummy's queen and jack of diamonds.

Another String
The play wasn't quite as lucky as it looked, for South had another string to his bow. The bidding and the opening lead indicated that East had five spades headed by K-Q-J. East was known to have exactly two hearts. There was a chance if East had only two diamonds or if he had only two clubs.

Imagine, for example, that East has four diamonds to the ace and the doubleton K-Q of clubs. East wins the second diamond with a low card, cashes a spade, and leads a club to dummy's ace. Declarer leads the queen of diamonds to ruff out the ace, gets to dummy with a trump, cashes the jack of diamonds, and then leads a club. East must win and must return a spade for lack of anything else. South ruffs and discards the losing club from dummy, making his contract.

Daily Question
Partner opens, with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S-8 4 3 2, H-6 4, D-10 9 8 7 5, C-6 2. What do you say?

Answer: Your distribution is not bad, but you have no high cards at all. You can't make tricks out of thin air. (Copyright, 1959)

Women Petition Against Confusing Traffic Signs

Chicago —A "Women's communities, aim to make it easier for motorists to identify traffic signs.

The study is based on the belief that standardized signs can be spotted readily and recognized by drivers who are strangers in an area.

The findings are expected to provide the basis for community action that will bring all traffic signs and signals up to national standards set by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads in cooperation with the American Association of State Highway Officials.

Mrs. Northcott says the project was undertaken to minimize traffic hazards and save lives.

Pelts Pelt Residents Of California Town

San Marino, Calif. -- Residents were pelted by pelts Tuesday.

Policeman Martin Boyle said he heard of it raining cats and dogs--but never Persian lamb and muskrat pelts.

The furs, packaged in sacks, fell in a 3-block area. There was no identification on them. Police were unable to estimate their worth.

Some residents reported seeing a plane circling the area when the furry flurry started. But no one is sure where the pelts came from.

Night Skies Offer Unusual Sights

BY CLARA HUSSONG

Green Bay — If you get up before sunrise on the day after Christmas, you may see one of the unusual sky displays for the month. Venus and the thin, sickle-shaped moon will be close together in the southeast. Venus has been our morning star all month and the waning moon has been in its vicinity all during this Christmas season, but it is on Dec. 26 when the two come closest together. Look for this sight an hour or more before the sun rises.

If you have a good view of the southeast horizon, you may see three more planets below Venus and the moon. These are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn, clustered close together and very low on the horizon.

On clear nights, the early evening hours are good times to look at the sky too. Soon after the sun sets, you can begin looking for some of the brightest constellations in the heavens. At this hour, you can see the Big Dipper stretched across the northern horizon.

Point to North Star

The two outside stars of the Dipper's bowl point higher up to Polaris, the North Star. Still higher up along this same course is the W-shaped group known as Cassiopeia, or Cassiopeia's Chair. Before they set, look for such beautiful western stars in the early evening as Altair and Vega.

The brightest constellations at this season can be found in the east. Orion, the hunter, can be looked for as soon as it gets dark. As the night wears on, Orion climbs higher up and then swings along on its westward way.

By 9 o'clock in the evening Sirius, Orion's "dog," can be seen low in the sky, a bit south of due east. This is our brightest star, and it is estimated to be only eight light years away from us. The line from Betelgeuze, to the belt, to Rigel, is a picture of a cow's head. Look up to the east some starry evening and see what it looks like to you.

Northern Cross

Although the brightest stars are in the east, there is at least one good constellation to look for in the west. This is Cygnus, the Swan, or the Northern Cross, as it is also called. This constellation is on view from May to January. Right now it can be looked for in the early evening in the northwest, dropping lower to the horizon by 9 o'clock.

You'll recognize Cygnus by its cross-shape, and by the bright star, Deneb, at the top of the cross. Deneb is the 14th most brilliant star in our eyes. It is 465 light years away, and one of the most distant stars we can see without a telescope. In September, Deneb and Cygnus were overhead, and by February, they will have sunk below the horizon before it gets dark.

Rigel, Orion's blue-white star, is 540 light years away, and is one of the brightest stars known. Betelgeuze, the red star in Orion, is one of the largest stars. Its diameter is 400 million miles!

'Star of the East'

Because of their brilliance during the Christmas season, and because they appear in the east, either of these two stars could be, in the minds of children, the "Star of the East." After the North Star, they are usually the next two learned and identified.

Winter is a good time to begin the study of stars, because so many of our most brilliant ones can be seen at this time. Besides Sirius and Procyon, which follow Orion the Hunter, there are two stars of the first magnitude in Orion itself. One is Rigel, our fifth brightest star, which marks Orion's knee, and the other is Betelgeuze, marking Orion's shoulder.

Rigel is a bluish-white star, and Betelgeuze, our eighth brightest star, is red. Between these two are the three bright est stars — on a slant — which represent Orion's belt. (To me, the line from Betelgeuze, to the belt, to Rigel, is a picture of a cow's head. Look up to the east some starry evening and see what it looks like to you.)

New York's Sam Huff Named Pro Football's 'Lineman of the Year'

Listed on 18 of 37 Writers' Ballots; Packers' Gregg Attracts 2 Votes

BY JOE REICHLER

New York — Sam Huff, the tough, tackle-hungry and almost toothless linebacker of the New York Giants is the acknowledged best professional football lineman in the country.

This is the opinion of the writers from New York to California covering the National Football league games. These writers, in the annual Associated Press poll, today selected Huff as the "Pro Lineman of the Year," giving him 18 of a possible 37 votes.

Huff

Altogether, 10 stalwart linemen were named. Baltimore's brilliant offensive end, Ray Berry, and another Colt, 270-pound tackle Jim Parker, received five votes. Two other Baltimore luminaries — end Gino Marchetti and 288-pound Gene "Big Daddy" Lipscomb, of the defensive line, attracted two votes as did tackle Forrest Gregg of Green Bay.

Four others got one vote. They were end Doug Atkins of the Chicago Bears, guard Jim Ray Smith of Cleveland, guard Art Spinney of the Colts and guard "Rosey" Brown of the Giants.

Huff undoubtedly is the key man of the Giants' awesome defense which, in each of the past two years, has yielded a league low of 3.6 yards per opponent's carry. Weighing 230 pounds, he is strong enough to flatten a power-

Huskies Hold Surprise Scrimmage

Pasadena, Calif. — The yuletide spirit sets in today in Rose bowl land, but not until after the visiting football players take a few more whacks on the practice field.

Coach Jim Owens of the Washington Huskies scheduled a double workout — a light drill this morning in the Long Beach Memorial stadium, and an all-out scrimmage in the afternoon.

No Outsiders Permitted

Owens said no outsiders, the press included, would be permitted to view the proceedings. And when he confided it would be a heavy duty session, eyebrows were lifted.

What, asked inquirers, did he call a scrimmage the Huskies put on two days ago?

This one was no tea party, and several of the players proved it when they showed up for breakfast — tendered by the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce — the next morning. They bore bruises, bandages and tape, some of it around the face.

Busy Day

Coach Milt Bruhn of Wisconsin had a busy day set for his Big Ten champions but indicated it would not be as severe as the Huskies faced.

Bruhn still maintained an air of secrecy for his workouts at nearby East Los Angeles City college but revealed that the Badgers would not begin really to bear down until Monday.

Tonight, the Wisconsin grid faction will have its Christmas party, with gifts presented by the university and home town admirers.

Friday the Tournament of Roses committee will throw another party for the Midwesterners. The Huskies have a party set for Friday, too, courtesy of the tournament of roses.

Wisconsin went through a short but spirited head-knocking drill Wednesday.

Smack Away

Bruhn had the first three teams smacking away at the fourth team inside the 10 yard line in a scrimmage calculated to sharpen the Wisconsin scoring punch.

"It was a good workout," Bruhn said, "but the boys still don't have all their mental alertness back."

Bruhn said he has not emphasized extra-heavy drills at this stage of preparation but plans to begin to bear down next Monday.

The Washington team meanwhile held a longer session with running and some contact work. Owens said it was a "sweatshirt workout with no contact."

Bruhn said he planned no heavy scrimmage because "there's too much chance of someone getting hurt." "Besides," he said, "I don't want them to leave their game on the practice field."

Fights Last Night

Miami Beach, Fla. — Luis Rodriguez, 146, Cuba, outpointed Garnet "Sugar" Hart, 150, Philadelphia, 10.

Knocke Sets Pace

Viking Cagers Average 61.8 Points Per Game

The Lawrence college basketball team has averaged 61.8 points for its first six games of the 1959-60 season. This represents a drop of 0.8 point for their offensive showing in last season's pre-holiday play.

Defensively, the Vikes are more than 3 points off their 1958-9 pace at a comparable time—72.2, compared to 68.9. For the most part, Lawrence's defense has been better than the figures suggest. Two foes, Coe (with 91 points) and Knox (81) have ballooned the average.

Better Record

Recordwise, the Vikes are better off than they were a year ago at holiday-break time. They have a 1-5 record, compared to 0-7 last year. This is the first time in at least three seasons that they've notched their first win before Christmas.

Individually, "Chuck" Knocke continues to set the pace, with an all-games average of 16.5. (This is a decrease of 2.9 over his team-leading average of a year ago.)

Jim Rasmussen, regaining his potent scoring touch in last week's win at Ripon, is second with a 12.7 average. (This is 5.2 below his pace at a comparable time last season.)

Each of the other players in the Vikes' current "big 6"—Jim Jordan, George Gray, Jim Schulze and Joe Lamers—is averaging between 5.3 and 9.7 points a game.

Coach Don Boya will re-assemble his cagers for practice Jan. 2. The next game will be played here Jan. 5 against Stevens Point. The Vikes, who played four of their first six games out of town, will be at home in four of their next five.

Individual scoring:

Knocke	28	23	17	39
Rasmussen	28	20	19	78

Black Hawks Blank Rangers

Gain 4th-Place Tie With Bruins On 3-0 Victory

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Black Hawks have rebounded from their poor start in the National Hockey league.

The Hawks, after their third-place finish of a year ago and strong playoff showing, were rated highly at the start of the current campaign. A pre-season poll of experts even had picked them for second.

Chicago won its opening game and then went through the next 14 games without a victory. The Hawks have been fifth or sixth most of the season, but they're on their way upward now.

Chicago beat the New York Rangers, 3 - 0, Wednesday night in the only league game played. The triumph boosted the Hawks in a fourth-place tie with the Boston Bruins.

It also left them three points in front of cellar-dwelling New York.

Tied Four

In their last 12 starts, the Hawks have won six, tied four and lost two. They have defeated the Rangers four times, tied once and lost once.

The victory was noteworthy in other ways for Chicago. Goalie Glenn Hall handled 25 shots flawlessly for his second shutout. Tod Sloan scored the first goal in the opening period—his 200th in the NHL—and Bobby Hull tied Bronco Horvath of the Bruins for the league scoring lead.

Hull collected an assist on rookie Red Hay's third-period goal. This gave Hull 39 points, the same as Horvath, on 19 goals and 20 assists.

Ken Wharram tallied the Hawks' second goal in the middle stanza.

Luis Rodriguez Now Ranks as Top Challenger

Decisions Hart For 26th Win In Succession

Miami Beach, Fla. — Luis Rodriguez's Christmas present appears to be a shot at the world welterweight championship, and he gave it to himself.

The Cuban buzzsaw, ranked No. 2 in the division, won a unanimous decision over Garnet "Sugar" Hart in the 10-round main event at the Miami Beach auditorium Wednesday night. His perpetual-motion attack kept "Sugar," ranked No. 3, befuddled much of the time.

Jan. 15 Deadline

Promoter Chris Dundee said he had been notified by NBA President Anthony Macaroni that unless champion Don Jordan defended his title by Jan. 15, the expiration time of his 6-month period of grace, that the winner of Wednesday night's fight would meet the best other available contender here Feb. 10 for the championship.

Angelo Dundee, Rodriguez's trainer and American representative, said after the bouncy Cuban had beat Hart: "Now we want to fight for the title. We've beaten the No. 1 and No. 3 contenders, so what more could you ask?"

Rodriguez, who is unbeaten in 26 starts, previously had defeated Charley Scott, the No. 1 challenger, and Scott was defeated again the other night in New York.

Marty Stein, Hart's manager, complained after the fight that Hart had to go to Rodriguez to make the fight, otherwise "it would have smelled out the joint." Hart said the Cuban "couldn't break an egg" with his punching.

San Francisco — East and West squads today began heavy workouts in preparation for their Jan. 2 battle with all remembering Wednesday's annual visit to the Shrine hospital for crippled children.

"There isn't anything we wouldn't do for those kids," declared Pittsburgh quarterback Ivan Tonic after he and the 47 other squad members spent the morning talking with the little patients.

Coach "Duffy" Daugherty of Michigan State again heads the East coaching staff with his club favored to give him a second straight victory in the charity game for the benefit of the crippled children. Last year the East won, 26-14.

Brandt Says Don Blasingame May Make Giants a Champ

Omaha — Jackie Brandt, outfielder and it didn't take a genius to figure out some of trades with Baltimore and St. Louis would go," he remarked.

Brandt said that as he sees it the trade with St. Louis that sent Don Blasingame, ace second baseman, to the Giants may be the clincher in making the Giants a champion.

In that trade the Giants sent Daryl Spencer, a shortstop by trade who had been playing second, and outfielder Leon Wagner to St. Louis.

"St. Louis didn't get hurt in that trade. Spencer is no Blasingame with a glove but the Giants could afford to give the offensive power for a defensive second baseman. And if the Cards play Wagner regularly, he'll hit a ton for them," Brandt said.

The Clincher

Brandt labelled that trade as no surprise to him. He said he figured he would be traded when the Giants decided last season to make an outfielder out of Orlando Cepeda.

"The Giants needed more pitching and a star second baseman. They had plenty of Brandt said.

He's Just a Little Fellow but Timothy, 2, commanded the admiration—and tugged at the heartstrings—of these East Shrine team representatives in the annual visit of players in San Francisco's Shriners' hospital Wednesday. Little Tim, who has no arms and but four toes on each foot, is a patient in the hospital. From left are East Coaches Andy Kerr; and "Duffy" Daugherty; Dean Look, Michigan State; Dick Michael, Ohio State; Ivan Tonic, Pittsburgh; and Bob White, Ohio State, all East team members. The annual game will be held Jan. 2 in Kezar stadium.

Indiana Bounces Notre Dame, 71-60

Butler Nips Purdue; Gophers Defeat Oklahoma, 57 to 56

By the Associated Press

Indiana ran up an impressive 71-60 victory over Notre Dame in the Hoosier classic Wednesday night as Big Ten basketball teams split with outside foes.

Butler spilled Purdue, 73-69, in the same meet while Minnesota tripped Oklahoma, 57-56, at Norman and Michigan State lost, 71-60 at California.

Indiana, compiling a 6-1 record, spurred for 39 points in the second half to nip the Irish after trailing, 37-32, at halftime. Frank Radovich and Herb Lee collected 16 points each for the Hoosiers while Walt Bellamy got all of his 10 points in the second half.

Final 21 Seconds

Butler knocked out Purdue (4-4) with a 45-34 intermission budge. The Boilermakers, topped by Terry Dischinger's 29 points, closed in at 68-66 with five minutes left but never could get over the hump.

Minnesota (4-3) nipped Oklahoma on Bob Griggs' basket in the final 21 seconds. He totaled eight points for the game. Ron Johnson led the Gophers with 17. It was the Gophers' second straight over the Sooners and left them with a 4-3 record. Oklahoma is all even in eight games.

Michigan State (4-2) was no match for the California Bears, who stretched a winning string to 22. The Spartans, lagging, 38-35, at halftime were held to seven field goals in the second period. Horace Walker with 17 points, Lance Olson with 16 and Art Gownens with 14 led the Spartans.

Darrall Imhoff, California's 6-10 center, led the scorers with 18 points.

Lee Paces Terror JVs In Scoring

Has 36-Point Lead Though He's Played In Only 4 Games

Mike Lee, who has played in only four varsity games, has a lead in Appletan High school JV basketball scoring of 36 points over the next best scorer.

He counted 85 points in the club's first four contests, for an average of 21.2, before being promoted to the varsity bench. The slender little guard has failed to score in two brief appearances with the varsity.

Dropped All 6

The Terror "B" team has dropped all six of its games but of the four losses when Lee was on the club three were by three points or less. Since he left, the jayvees have been walloped by 26 and 19 points.

Coach John Graff's charges are averaging 38.3 points a game. The enemy, which has counted between 47 and 54 in all of the six contests, is averaging 49.2.

Runnerup to Lee in scoring thus far is John Wendt, with 49 points. No other player has averaged as many as four markers.

Will Join Olympians

Paul, who shortly will join the United States Olympic team to play in the 1960 winter games at Squaw Valley, Calif., is averaging just under 3 points per game.

Dougherty, former Minnesota All-American, has collected 14 goals and 17 assists for 31 points. Just a point behind is Player-Captain Johnny Mayasich, who leads the club in assists with 20.

The Bobcats, who share first place with Rochester in the Central Hockey league race, return to action against the Marquette Sentinels at the Arena here Saturday night. It will be a 2-game series, closing Sunday afternoon.

The Bobcat scoring:

G	A	TP
Paul Johnson	20	18
Dick Dougherty	14	17
Johnny Mayasich	10	20
Gerry Martilla	8	11
Dick Dier	11	8
Pete Buchmann	5	12

Philadelphia Stadium May Be Converted to Harness Race Track

Philadelphia — Philadelphia Stadium, known throughout the country as the site of the Army-Navy football game, may be converted to a part-time harness race track.

Mayor Richardson Dilworth said Wednesday he was making the city-owned stadium available to any group that wants to sponsor races there.

First, said Dilworth, the group must pay the cost of alterations—which he estimated at two million dollars—to convert the 100,000-seat stadium for racing use. Second, he said, the alterations must be such as not to interfere with the Army-Navy game.

Gov. David L. Lawrence Tuesday signed into law a bill permitting pari-mutuel betting in Philadelphia county, subject to voter approval.

Syracuse '11' Less Awed About Bowl Assignment Than Last Year

Orangemen Seem Certain They Can Defeat Texas

Houston, Texas — (AP) — Syracuse football players, admittedly a bit awed a year ago at the prospect of meeting Oklahoma, feel certain they can take care of Texas in the Cotton bowl New Year's day.

"The tenseness of last year is gone, this is an entirely different atmosphere," observed fullback Art Baker, now a bruising 214 pounds.

"There won't be any morale problem," chipped in Ger Schwedes, the wingback and captain who scored 100 points as the power-packed Orange knocked over 10 straight opponents.

"The difference is like night and day, our kids are so much further advanced," an assistant coach said.

An on-the-scene observer would have to agree. Syracuse had never boasted an undefeated team in 71 years of playing football, much less a national championship, and the players are vigorously proud.

They don't want to spoil it now.

"Texas may score against us, but we'll score more," Baker, a junior from Erie, Pa., said. "I've seen films of the Texas games, and I can't see where their line can compete with ours—or stop our backs."

Baker also discounted the speed of the Texas backs, who many observers feel will run around the massive Orange line, the nation's top defensive unit.

"Nobody's done it yet, and I don't believe Texas can do it," Baker contended. "People know our line is big, but they don't realize how fast these guys are."

A year ago at Raleigh, N.C., when Syracuse prepared to meet Oklahoma in the Orange bowl at Miami, workouts were long, intense and often boring. The coaches were grim.

Oklahoma won, 21-6, Syracuse's third bowl defeat.

This time coach Ben Schwartzwalder and his aides have shortened the drills. Various training phases are switched rapidly and the pace quickened.

Nate Belling clouted a 622 threesome in the latest round of Major league bowling at Hahn's, bowling for the Hahn's team.

Bob Nehls rapped a 254 for Behnke's and finished with a 579. Court's (30 - 15) holds a 1-game lead.

Ed Flood cracked a 621, Jim Traas a 614, Willy Falk a 229 and 605 and Mike Court a 246 and 600.

Other honor scores: "Bud" Stach, 588; Frank Kroiss, 582; Harry Kositzke, 575; Duane "Kat" Kasube, 572; Bill Noffke, 570; Wally Moore, 569; Jerry Eastman, 567; John Klimmek, 567; Earl Schleutwiler, 562; Norm Bunkleman, 561.

California '5' Tops MSU for 22nd Straight

Utah Bounces COP, 72-58, to Continue Streak

By The Associated Press

California's Golden Bears and Utah's Redskins continue to give every indication that they will have to be reckoned with in the battle for top collegiate basketball honors.

The Bears, last season's national collegiate champions and fourth ranked nationally this year, won their twenty-second straight and sixth this season, with a 71-60 triumph over Michigan State. Utah, which handed a strong Ohio State quintet its first defeat of the season Monday night, won its eighth straight without a loss Wednesday night, knocking off College of the Pacific, 72-58.

Utah, ranked sixth nationally, toyed with College of the Pacific. Coach Jack Gardner put his second team in mid-way in the first half after the Utes had rolled up a 10-point lead. Utah led, 42-24, at the half.

Indiana Wins

Indiana captured the eighth Hoosier classic at Indianapolis, defeating a strong Notre Dame team, 71-60, for its fifth straight. Butler upset Purdue, 73-69, in the first game of the doubleheader.

Iowa State held off a strong challenge in the closing minutes to defeat Drake, 58-54, in the one hundred seventh renewal of their traditional rivalry. It was the Cyclones' seventy-second victory in the series.

Xavier of Ohio downed St. Mary's of Texas, 76-67, for its sixth victory in seven starts. Although outshot from the floor, Montana's Grizzlies made good on 18 of 19 free throws to upset favored Nebraska, 64-58.

Louisville whipped Wittenberg, 59-46, to hand the Ohioans their first defeat in six games. John Turner's 18 points sparked the Cardinals to their sixth triumph in eight starts.

Oscar Robertson Has Best Supporting Cast In 3 Years at Cincy

Bearcats Average 100 Points, Open ECAC Play Saturday

Cincinnati, Ohio — (AP) — The high school boy from Indiana who migrated to Ohio for his college education is going back to New York Saturday where, two years ago, he startled the basketball customers with his scoring wizardry.

It's Oscar Robertson — the head man on a University of Cincinnati basketball team that is averaging 100 points a game through its first six contests and is rated No. 1 in The Associated Press poll.

The Bearcats will open Saturday night against St. Bonaventure in the ECAC Holiday tournament and one of the teams they may meet is St. Joseph of Philadelphia.

Averages 42 Points

St. Joseph's coach, Jack Ramsey, has called UC "the best college team I ever saw." He should know—Cincinnati beat his ball club at Cincinnati recently by the whopping score of 123-79.

Going into the tournament, "The Big O," leading scorer in the nation for two years and All-America both times,

South 2-Point Choice Saturday In Orange Bowl

Miami, Fla. — (AP) — The odds-makers have installed the South All-Star college football team a 2-point favorite over the North in the Shrine game Saturday night, at the Orange bowl but to casual observers the reason is a mystery.

The reputation of little Fran Curci of Miami and Jack Cummings of North Carolina may have some thing to do with the choice of the south. Both are rated outstanding passers, and Curci, who throws left-handed, can run the option play about as well as anyone.

When Robertson first appeared in New York two years ago he scored 56 points and that still is his all-time collegiate high. His low this year thus far was 36 against Miami of Ohio and his high was 48 against St. Josephs.

Like Free Substitution

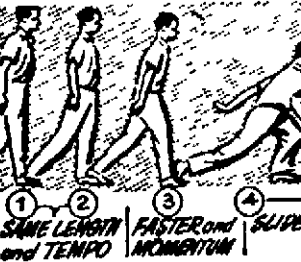

Sportswriters Want Colleges To Copy Professionals' Rules

By The Associated Press
The men who watch the game from the press box think college football should copy the professionals.
Colleges should put the goal posts on the goal-line and return to the free-substitution rule, these observers said emphatically in The Associated Press' post-season football poll.
Queries about current and proposed rules, the nation's sports writers and broadcasters were almost solid in their dissatisfaction with college standards.
Of the 166 who expressed opinions in the poll tabulated today, 112 said colleges should go back to the 2-platoon system and unlimited substitutions.
Only slightly fewer—108—said the goal posts should be put on the goal line, as the pros have it.

Under present rules, a player may reenter the game only once during a quarter but there is provision for specialists to be shuttled in and out when the clock is stopped under a so-called "wild card rule," tried for the first time this year.
Asked about the effectiveness of the "wild card" rule, the voters replied—10 to 1—that they were in favor of it if limited substitution could not be achieved. A few said they noted little difference. Queries on the suggestion that there be a 5-year moratorium on tampering with college rules, the voters were divided. But two-thirds of them said, "No."

IMPROVE Your GAME

By Irving Marsh & Gard Tyrrell

BOWLING Footwork Tip

Try footwork first without the ball. The first step with the right foot is a natural walking step—fairly slow and normal length stride. The second is the same length and the same tempo. On the third, with your right foot, tempo is a little faster. And the fourth, with your left foot, is more of a slide than a step. As your left foot comes forward, your toe leaves the floor only slightly and comes back to the floor just behind your right heel.

Panfish Biting In Northern and Central Lakes

Madison — From the frozen lakes of northern and central Wisconsin came reports Wednesday that panfish are biting for winter anglers.
The State Conservation department said walleye and northern pike fishing has not been too successful to date but is expected to pick up as the season progresses.
A total of 63 lakes across Wisconsin are open to rain-bow, brown and brook trout fishing until Feb. 15. The bag limit is 10, the size minimum six inches.
Lake trout fishing will become legal Jan. 1. Big Green lake in Green lake county and Trout and Black Oak lakes in Vilas county are expected to be big attractions.
Bag limit on the big trout is two per day with a size minimum of 17 inches.

To Probe Charges That Gangsters, Thieves in Boxing

Boston — The Massachusetts Boxing commission and the State legislature want to look into charges by middleweight challenger Paul Pender that "gangsters and thieves" infest professional boxing.
"I want him to put up or shut up," commission Chairman Herman Greenberg said Wednesday night. "Who are these crooks in boxing? As chairman of the commission I want to know. I want to get rid of them."
Pender was ordered to appear before the commission Tuesday.
State Rep. James F. Condon filed a resolve for the appointment of a committee to investigate boxing within the state.

block in time to nail a fleet-footed halfback like Ollie Matson, and smart enough to diagnose pass patterns and knife through to smear a quarterback like Johnny Unitas.

Has Own Followers

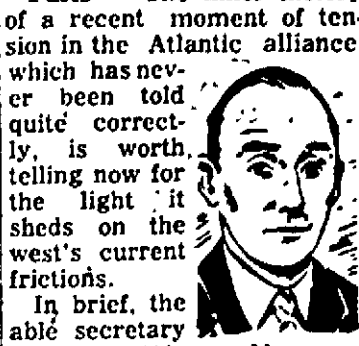

Time was when hero worshiping in football was confined to the touchdown-happy backs. Huff is one of the reasons why, in recent years, the defensive player has inspired his own band of followers.
Yankee stadium fans line up four deep in the mezzanine each Sunday the Giants are home to cheer their favorite. Every time the 25-year-old mangle from West Virginia brings down a ball carrier—which is quite often—the fans fumble out a cheer like that of a chugging engine.
"Sam deserves all the adulation he's been getting," said Giant Coach Jim Lee Howell. "He ranks with Mel Hein of the old Giants as the greatest lineman I've ever seen. It's uncanny the way that fellow follows the ball."

Huff, an outstanding tackle at West Virginia, was the third draft choice of the Giants in 1955. At first, the giant coaching staff didn't know what to do with him. At 230 he seemed too light for the defensive line, a step too slow for offensive guard. But in the third game of the season, the

Eisenhower Must Patch West, French Alliance

Writer Sees Adenauer-De Gaulle Incident As Evidence France Wants U. S. in Europe

BY JOSEPH ALSOP

Paris — The inner history of a recent moment of tension in the Atlantic alliance, which has never been told quite correctly, is worth telling now for the light it sheds on the west's current frictions.
In brief, the able secretary of state, general of NATO, Paul-Henri Spaak, not long ago made a trip to Washington, where he heard about the treasury-budget bureau drive to recall two American divisions from Europe. On his return to Paris, Spaak passed the word among the NATO allies they had better meet their NATO pledges more faithfully, lest the American departure from Europe begin. He cited as evidence the serious argument then going on in Washington about the two divisions.

those confronting Gen. de Gaulle and those confronting President Eisenhower. For de Gaulle, in brief, the Adenauer-Debre incident implied the existence of certain limits beyond which French policy cannot safely go.

In theory, of course, de Gaulle can engineer a classic reversal of alliances by reviving the Franco-Russian pact of the past. In practice, as he indicated to Adenauer, nothing could be further from de Gaulle's thoughts. But if he does not wish to reverse his alliances, de Gaulle cannot go too far in the direction of the old fashioned, purely national diplomacy natural to him. If he seems to attack the unity of the west or the workability of NATO, de Gaulle will face a solid, angry united front of all the other western powers, headed by his own particular friend, the German chancellor.

America Doubled

For President Eisenhower, meanwhile, the Adenauer-Debre incident also had implications. In Europe generally, and in France particularly, there are growing doubts about the firmness of American leadership of the west and about the finality of America's position as a partner in the need to meet all NATO pledges. He used it, rather, as proof that the European nations had better begin planning how to defend themselves when and if the Americans should have departed.

Adenauer Shocked

The chancellor was both horrified by the mention of the possibility of American withdrawal and enraged because Debre did not appear to be equally horrified. In the sequel, Adenauer was reassured by Gen. de Gaulle. The French president both declared his absolute loyalty to the Atlantic alliance and assured Adenauer that he too would regard an American withdrawal from Europe as a real catastrophe.

This fragment of inner history is interesting because it says much about two quite different sets of problems—

Milwaukee Falcons Tip Omaha Before Slim Crowd of 485

Jean Therrien scored two goals for Milwaukee in the first minute of play in the third period and set up another with a pass to Joe Howes.

Attendance was 485. The hardy fans who braved the elements to see the game were given passes for another game in January.

He's had it ever since. From the looks of things he'll have it for many, many more years.

CD Reports General Increase in Wisconsin Walleye Population

Madison — An ideal weather during last summer's hatching season resulted in a general increase in the walleye population in Wisconsin, the Conservation department said Wednesday.

Large numbers of young walleyes were reported from Lake Winnebago, the Wolf Lake, Pike lake in Washington county, Lake Koshkonong, the Rock river, and the Penwell and Castle rock flows of the Wisconsin river.

ARD Slates Boys' Hockey Clinic Dec. 28

Two hockey organizational meetings for boys eight through 13 years old have been set for the evenings of Dec. 28 and 30 by the Appleton-Recreation department.
The clinics will run from 7 to 8:30 p. m. in the Morgan school gym. The first meeting will be in the form of a clinic and boys are asked to bring their hockey sticks and other equipment and a paper and a pencil. "Chalk talks" on equipment will be given under the direction of Arthur Geiger and C. N. Kitzinger.
The discussion will include talks on the basic rules and on playing conduct.
At the second meeting, formation of teams in a Midget Hockey league will begin and league information will be distributed.

Beavers Beat Lions In 'Y' Grade League

The Beavers (3-1) defeated the Lions (1-2), 19-11, in latest Appleton YMCA Grade School Boys Basketball league action. John Kafura coined seven for the Beavers, Bob Abendroth hit six for the Lions.

The Badgers (1-2) nipped the Tigers (0-3) 17-15. Jeff Huttenberg counted 10 in the Badgers' cause, Dale Schabo hit 11 for the Tigers.

The Bears (3-0) lead the league.

Village Street Work in '60 to Cost $64,700

Little Chute Plans Curb and Gutter, Garage Projects

Little Chute — Maintenance of highways and bridges in the village is expected to cost $64,700 next year, according to the 1960 budget compared to $43,154 spent in 1959.

Major reason for the increase of over $21,000 is a $6,000 appropriation for permanent street work and curb and gutter projects in 1960, whereas no money was appropriated for this in 1959, and an increase of nearly $9,000 in cost of street labor for 1960.

Labor costs in 1959 amounted to $20,205 compared to $29,000 for 1960. Materials for streets will cost $5,400 in 1960 compared to $6,875 in 1959. Cost of maintaining streets, using county equipment and labor when necessary, is expected to cost $4,000 in 1960 compared to $2,900 in 1959.

Other Expenses
Vehicle and equipment for 1960 is set at $4,800 compared to $3,483 in 1959 and snow removal is expected to cost $5,000 in 1960 whereas the 1959 expense amounted to $4,748. Garage, tools and miscellaneous expenses for 1959 amounted to $1,460 whereas $2,000 was appropriated in the 1960 budget.

Street lighting for 1960 is expected to cost $4,500 compared to $2,888 in 1959. This reflects increased growth in size of the community and the new mercury vapor lights. Drawbridge expense for 1960 is set at $2,000 compared to $380 in 1959. Garage expansion for 1960 will add another $2,000 to the street budget.

Kaukauna Man Hit by Truck Receives Injury

Kaukauna — Carl Schwinn, 57, 6081 W. Wisconsin avenue, Kaukauna, suffered bumps and bruises when he stepped in front of a truck about 4:45 p. m. Tuesday at Lawe street and Wisconsin avenue, according to Kaukauna police.

A truck driven by Frank Benotch, 50, 300 Taylor street, Kaukauna, had stopped for the signal lights and was starting out as the lights turned green when Schwinn stepped from the curb and was struck. He was taken to the Community hospital in the city ambulance where he was held overnight for observation and examination.

Village Mihaps On Snowy Roads

Little Chute — Slippery roads saw two accidents in the village Tuesday night, both resulting in property damage only.

The first about 4:30 p. m. resulted in $300 damage when a car driven by Martin Van Gompel, 21, 1002 N. Madison street, Little Chute, emerged from an alley behind a service station on Vandenberg street and was struck in the right front end by a car driven by Norbert Evers, 28, route 3, Appleton, who was traveling north on Vandenberg. Evers told police he failed to notice the Van Gompel car in time and was unable to stop on the slippery road.

About $250 damage resulted at 9:45 p. m. Tuesday when a car driven by Mrs. Margaret D. Wallace, 17, 205 S. Washington street, Kimberly, skidded as she attempted to turn from Highway 96 onto Vandenberg street and struck a parked car owned by William W. Gloudemans, 308 E. North street, Little Chute.

The men's choir will sing the mass with Miss Ceil Bos as organist and Gordon Kotkosky, director. Masses on Christmas day will be at 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10:30 and 11:30 a. m. and at 12:15 p. m. The 9 a. m. service will be a solemn high mass.

51st New Home Permit Issued

Total Exceeds 1958 When 46 Dwellings Were Constructed

Kaukauna — Two new home permits were issued Wednesday by Lothar Kemp, building inspector, bringing to 51 the number issued to date in 1959. This is five more than were issued in 1958.

The permits were issued to Lieber Lumber company. The concern will build $9,500 homes at 1604 and 1612 Glenview avenue.

A building permit to construct a steel garage at an estimated cost of $3,000 at 1300 Crooks avenue was issued to Hietpas Motors company, 1014 Draper street, Kaukauna.

Merlin School In 235 Line At Little Chute

Little Chute — Merlin School hit a 235 game and 609 series for the individual honors in the Fish Couples league at the Recreation alleys.

Ray Mignon had the only other count in the league, a 567 series.

In the Ladies league, Joan Johnson rocked a 211 game and 545 series for top honors. Margaret Randerson hit a 197 singleton, Ellie Walker posted a 533 series, Marge Vanderloop collected a 501 set and Vi Reynebeau had a 510 triplicate.

Alois Van Zeeland rattled the maples for a 232 singleton to share individual honors in the Tri-City league.

Francis LeNoble hit the high series with a 589 total for three games.

Other high counts included a 581 series by Ed Poppe, 574 set by Gene Van Zeeland and a 226 game by Ken Ver Voort.

Calvin Coolidge Came By Nickname Honestly, Rider Can Attest

Montpelier, Vt. — "Silent" Calvin Coolidge didn't get his reputation for nothing. Take it from Rep. Joseph Moore of Plymouth, a member of the Vermont legislature.

Moore, whose father and Coolidge were cousins, says he was riding from Northampton, Mass., to Plymouth with Coolidge in an automobile once.

Coolidge didn't say a word throughout most of the trip. But as they neared Plymouth, he turned quickly, as if startled, and looked out the window. Then he settled back in his seat.

"Woodchuck," he told Moore. And that was the only word he spoke through the entire trip.

Hollandtown Choir Set for Christmastide Observance

Hollandtown — The annual festive observance of Christmastide at St. Francis Seraph church, Hollandtown, will begin this year with a concert of Christmas music by the 30-voice men's vested choir at 11:15 p. m. Thursday.

Highlighting the concert will be "O Holy Night" and "Gesu Bambino" with the full choir singing choral background for Tom Van Abel, tenor, and Don Weyers, baritone. Opening the 45-minute program will be "Bethlehem, O Hallowed Thou," followed by "Under The Stars One Holy Night."

Next the choir will sing "Lo, How A Rose E'er Blooming" followed by Tom Van Abel singing "O Holy Night." Fred Brochtrup and Jerry Gehl will join voices to sing "Birth-day of a King," after which Don Weyers will sing "Gesu Bambino," supported by alternating choruses.

March To Crib
The choir will march to the unlighted crib at the front of the church singing "Come Ye To Bethlehem City." The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John DeVries, pastor, accompanied by acolytes will bless the crib after which the choir will sing, "O Monday by Gertz. Plans call for the advanced classes to start Jan. 4 or 6, depending on enrollment.

After returning to the choir loft, Roland Brochtrup and Allan Rademacher will sing "Angels From the Realms Of Glory." As bells announce the beginning of Midnight mass in the choir will sing "Silent Night."

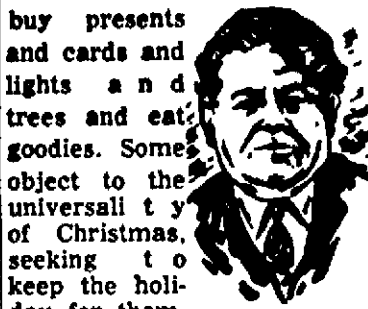

The mass in honor of Mary.

These Days

Christmas 1959: Different Things To Many Men, but Important to All

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

New York — There are those who call Christmas commercial because folks buy presents and cards and lights and trees and eat goodies. Some object to the universal t of Christmas, seeking to keep the holiday for themselves as a monopoly or rejecting it because they do not believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Messiah.

They are small of heart. Christmas has become the universal holiday of friendship, of neighborliness, of love of man for man. It is the holiday when the children come home from school to cheer the household in the bleakness of winter. It is a holiday now of several days of rest and gaiety and those who cannot visit, telephone from the most distant places to wish parents, wives, children well.

"A Merry Christmas!" These are cheerful words and no one needs to reject good tidings at any time for any reason. The world is so full of unhappiness that whoever can find wholesome, decent joy in fellowship with his kin, or with others, need not apologize for the occasion.

Nationwide Holiday
To Christians it means more than that. It can mean the birth of their religion: the day when the Messiah was born. It means to them the fruition of the idea of the Messiah, the appearance of God on earth as a sign to man of the forgiveness of sin and the salvation of the souls of men. It means to them the life eternal.

But Christmas, in this country, is not limited to Christians. Everybody celebrates Christmas. Everybody sends gifts. Everybody gives cards. Even the stingiest give tips. Even the most frugal do something to open their hearts to others. It is good to be generous. It is good to make others happy and gay.

Christmas is also a reminder to all the peoples of the western world that theirs is essentially one civilization, the civilization of those who love God. True there are different expressions of that belief, different manifestations of that great love of God which in its earthly form is a respect for man, a regard for manners, an acceptance of morals, a recognition of the dignity of each human being.

Cultural Demands
Perhaps this is too broad a program of life, too noble an expression of purpose, too heavy an obligation. Nevertheless, it is what the Judaic-Christian civilization demands of those who affiliate themselves with its various facets. It cannot accept less from the sincere; it does not expect a total fulfillment, for man is a weak instrument of faith who is full of passions, the pursuit of which lessens the fineness of his intentions and reduces his purposes to frustrations.

The Judaic-Christian civilization demands much of each of its votaries and those who fail the test of sincerity often find their days poisoned by regrets and the oppression of conscience which makes for so much misery.

This, then, too, is Christmas — the renewal of faith, the acceptance of the moral restrictions which are inevitable in the Godly life. Each acceptance is a restriction; each restriction is a rejection of the anarchy of will run riot. Perhaps some of the most restrictive rules of life, the fasts, the confessions of error and sin, the denunciation of wickedness, the various dietary taboos are only regulations of self-discipline and the acknowledgment that man is not a lonely creature but lives with others in joy as well as sorrow.

Hunger for Leadership
And so we come to this Christmas, in the year 1959, when war or peace hangs in the balance, when peace itself is an era of chaos, when standards of manners and morals have collapsed and the entire human race hungers for a leadership that will bring to it a surcease from its cares and worries.

What will survive of the centuries of man's travail from tribal selfishness to the selfishness of such a personage as Jesus? In the hardness of the Sinai Peninsula, in the sands of the Negev, in the watered wastes of Galilee men and women, oppressed by militarism and materialism, sought peace for their souls. Some found such peace in the words and presence of Jesus and they wandered the Mediterranean world preaching God's word and letting all mankind share their glad tidings.

And this is Christmas — the holiday of glad tidings to believer and unbeliever alike. (Copyright, 1959)

Social Security

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. My wife and I have been drawing social security for the last few years. In March of 1958 we legally adopted our grandson. I tried to get social security for him but your office advised me that he would have to be adopted three years before he would be eligible. Has there been any change on that?

A. Yes. Under the 1958 amendments, your adopted grandson would be eligible for payments immediately. The previous 3-year waiting period is no longer required.

Q. I became disabled several years ago and I am now receiving monthly disability benefits from social security. My neighbor tells me that I should also be getting benefits for my two minor children. Is that correct?

A. That is correct. As of September, 1958 payments became available for minor children of a disabled beneficiary. Both you and your wife should contact your local office immediately to file claims. Bring the children's birth certificates with you.

Q. What is the age limit for a wife to draw when her husband gets disability insurance benefits?

A. There is no age limit if she has in her care the husband's children either under age 18 or disabled before 18. If there are no eligible children, the wife must be age 62.

The social security administration office is in the courthouse annex, 401 S. Elm street, Appleton.

Significance Of Ike's Trip Not Yet Seen

Improved Relations With India One Important Result

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Despite the platitudes in the official communiques, something dramatic and of far-reaching significance that couldn't be put into words was accomplished by President Eisenhower's 22,000-mile tour of eleven nations in Asia, Europe and Africa.

Good will toward America was manifested on every side. The unselfish purposes of the United States were recognized. No longer can it be said by wishful partisans in American politics that America is "hated" everywhere abroad.

Mr. Eisenhower was the symbolic recipient of bouquets of appreciation for the interest the United States has taken in countries, large and small, many of which have received economic aid from this country in the struggling years of their existence.

The acts of the United States everlastingly mean much to the underdeveloped nations, beginning with India and reaching to Morocco on the eastern shore of the Atlantic.

Critics have not been silent. The London "Daily Herald," organ of the socialist labor party, called Mr. Eisenhower's visit to Spain a "blunder." It declared that "those who believe in freedom feel betrayed," and didn't want to see Mr. Eisenhower "hobnobbing" with Gen. Franco. This same "left-wing" newspaper cheer-

Once a North Korean artillery commander, now a peace loving Indian farmer, Ki Cheoi Ji, pauses with his two dogs on his prosperous farm in India.

He bought some of the best varieties of chickens available in Delhi and now has an 800-bird poultry farm. He has a piggery of 21 animals and three buffaloes for selling milk.

His present net income is $210 a month. He expects to double this before the end of the year.

Met Opposition

At the beginning, the Korean met with opposition from neighbors.

"Some people even threatened to beat me; they thought I was an unwanted intruder. I challenged them to come one by one and defeated them in open combat. I know the Japanese methods of boxing and wrestling, and the stoutest among them could not stand before me," he says.

"Now they are reconciled to me, and take me for granted. I am ready and willing to teach them how to use the limbs to one's best advantage. I hope one day they will come to me."

Washed Land

But rather than enter the fruitless life of a refugee waiting for the dream to come people could use their limbs true, he set to work. The Indian government loaned him there would be milk and honey flowing in the streets."

ed Prime Minister Macmillan's visit to dictator Khrushchev, ignoring the protests at the time of many exiles from the communist-dominated countries.

Mr. Eisenhower didn't make his trip to give sanction to this or that form of government in any country. His cordial reception of Nikita Khrushchev here last September and the toehoming visit which Mr. Eisenhower will pay to the Soviet Union next spring are intended to emphasize a people-to-people relationship. Everywhere on his trip just completed the president referred to this theme because he knows authoritarian forms of government are temporary and that eventually the nations of the world must inevitably find their salvation in free governments.

President Eisenhower provided an extraordinary ambassador of good will. His personality is the kind that exudes friendliness and geniality. His record as the supreme commander of the allied forces in Europe in World War II gave him a prestige broader than any other visiting dignitary could enjoy today in those same countries.

Relations With India

The value of the trip comes in its after-effects. Militarily it is important for the United States to maintain air bases in Morocco and Spain. It is important to have allies in countries like Pakistan, Iran and Turkey, and it is vital to the future of southeast Asia for the United States and India to be getting closer together in an economic as well as a political sense.

Nehru for the last few years has been pursuing a "neutralist" course. It has been argued that America finally decided in recent months not to be hostile to neutralism. Quite the opposite has happened. It is India herself which has awakened to the dangers of neutralism. Few people in Free Governments feel today that India has any illusions about the aggressive policies of the communist bloc, particularly red China. The Peiping regime brought about the chance in India's policy. America has merely taken advantage of the changed atmosphere to come closer to Nehru and the people of India.

In a broad sense, American diplomacy has been alert and flexible. Those who say that all this couldn't have happened if John Foster Dulles were still secretary of state will not find any agreement on that point from President Eisenhower. He knows from intimate conversations with Mr. Dulles that the latter favored flexible policies but felt the occasions must be timely and carefully selected. Mr. Dulles was dedicated to the people-to-people approach which now has been developed so effectively by the president's memorable tour.

World events, reported day by day, do not spell out the long-range possibilities nor can the president's trip be appraised in terms of immediate results. But in the perspective of history the tour of Dwight Eisenhower will long be remembered as a great triumph of American idealism as symbolized by a great American. (Copyright, 1959)

Provocative Novelties Introduced Into Revenue Study Discussions

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — An Eau Claire lawyer-banker who is a part-time politician has introduced some provocative novelties into the discussions of the citizens' revenue study commission which is trying to chart a long-range state-local finance and tax program for the state.

With every appearance of seriousness, Edwin Larkin, best known politically as a recent Democratic aspirant for the lieutenant governorship, recently told his colleagues that one way to solve taxing problems is to reduce public expenditures and one way to reduce public spending is to restore flogging for criminal offenses.

With the prospect of corporal punishment facing them, criminal offenders will be deterred from their transgressions and the huge and costly law enforcement machine can be reduced in size, he asserted.

Other Proposals

Before his fellow members of the "blue ribbon" commission had time to figure out whether Larkin might have been jesting, he fired at them a series of other fiscal proposals that would have the effect of sparing the general taxpayer, including:

1. Taxation of consumer and other cooperatives, which would have the effect of defying a tacit agreement of the political parties in the Wisconsin legislature stretching over many decades that cooperative organizations should be exempt from the levies that apply to other businesses.

2. A 50 per cent increase of the tax on the liquor industry because it contributes to some of the social problems of the times that in turn generate higher costs of government.

3. A reduction in the tax outlay for physical plant in the educational system, not only by reducing some of their luxury features, but also through more efficient use of the structures as through an extension of the school year.

Larkin's ideas have been presented in a subcommittee report labeled as a "tentative working paper," but his colleagues have little doubt that he endorses most of the ideas it has contained.

There has been keen public interest in the veteran lawyer's plan for revival of corporal punishment by court order that prevailed in ancient times.

"The deterring effect of physical punishment will result in a benefit to society, and the taxpayer will pay out less money for the criminals," he said.

Some persons declined to take Larkin seriously when he originally publicized his idea for the legalization of the old-time "whipping post." Gov. Gaylord Nelson, for example, chose to assume that Larkin was being facetious and in a pun remarked that it struck him as a "whacky" idea.

But Larkin's most recent report to the study commission commented seriously:

"The apprehension, trial and punishment of those who commit crimes of violence is costly to the taxpayer. In many instances those committing crimes such as rape, battery and others are not apprehended. Large sums are spent within the state for officers whose presence, it is hoped, will be a deterrent to crimes of violence, for officers and vehicles and communications systems which will assist in apprehension, courthouses and judges and juries and prosecuting officers and investigating officers for the purpose of holding the trials and finally prison and personnel for the punishment and attempted rehabilitation of criminals."

"The costs of these activities are increasing and the numbers of those who are committing crimes of violence are increasing. Those who commit crimes of violence are becoming an ever-increasing financial burden for the taxpayer, in addition to becoming an ever increasing danger to their fellow citizens."

Adm. Burke Interview Answers Vital Questions on Naval Defense

BY BEM PRICE

Washington—(AP)—On Dec. 30 a whale-nosed submarine, almost as large as a small cruiser, is scheduled to enter active service as the world's first SSBN—submarine, ballistic missile, nuclear powered.

The appearance of the smooth-hulled, missile-packing George Washington in the active U. S. fleet may well mark the beginning of a drastic shift in the nation's approach to nuclear deterrence.

There are key military men in the Pentagon who believe the SSBN ultimately may become the backbone of the U. S. nuclear deterrent force, much as the Strategic Air Command is now with its long-range nuclear bombers.

Against this background, a reporter asked Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, to discuss the SSBN and related naval matters, before presenting the far-ranging interview, in question and answer form, these points should be noted:

1. The navy developed the SSBN on the theory that oceans provide a perfect hiding place for missile launchers—retaining their capacity to retaliate even after many fixed missile bases on land should be knocked out in a surprise attack. Present plans call for the building of three SSBNs a year for the next 15 years.

2. Commissioning of the George Washington will be only a small step toward creating a new weapons system. The ship cost $105 million, has a crew of 100 and an underwater displacement of 6,700 tons. It is designed to carry 16 Polaris missiles. But as yet Polaris is not operational and is not expected to be until sometime next year. The missile eventually will have a range of 1,500 miles.

3. While the George Washington means an important strengthening of the U.S. fleet, she has one function only—nuclear retaliation. As Adm. Burke points out, she is useless for limited wars.

4. The Soviet Union is estimated to have some 500 submarines. While the Russian undersea fleet has been growing—and presumably the Soviets are also building SSBN's—the U.S. fleet has been shrinking steadily.

The Interview:

Q. This interview was prompted, Admiral, by the suspicion that the Polaris system in terms of deterrent capability is one of the dark horses in the (inter-service) missile race. Are you familiar with Cmdr. M. G. Saunders of the British Royal Navy?

A. Yes, I know some of his stuff.

Q. He has made the observation that the submarine is the one outstanding weapon of the missile age, that it possesses mobility, surprise, endurance and a high degree of immunity. Do you consider the Polaris sub the outstanding weapon?

A. Yes and no. People can't put things into nice little categories like that. The Polaris submarine, I think, will be one of the most effective retaliatory weapons in the whole world. . . . It has a lot

Gov. Rockefeller Says His Son Steven Was Beaten by Gang

New York — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he has a personal knowledge of juvenile delinquency because his son Steven was beaten up three times by a youth gang.

The governor said it was 10 years ago when Steven was 13. He said the beatings took place in Manhattan while Steven was en route home from school.

Rockefeller made the disclosure in a panel interview on juvenile delinquency, published in the latest issue of the Ladies' Home Journal.

"Youthful crime and violence have increased in alarming proportions in recent years," the governor is quoted. "It's not something that involves just certain sec-around 500, including 280 to 300 medium and long range submarines.

A. I think that is correct.

Q. Are you satisfied now with the navy's ability to protect the Atlantic and Pacific Sea lanes? Are you satisfied with your anti-submarine warfare capability?

A. No. I'm not satisfied with any other capability we've got, either.

Q. What is your shortage in ASW?

A. Well, before we talk of shortages . . . we have made some remarkable progress in a good many fields, but we haven't made enough. We would like to detect at much greater ranges. . . .

Q. When you speak of long ranges . . . ?

A. Miles. In tens of miles. If we were sure we could pick up all submarines and identify them at 20 miles or 30 miles, we would be happy. . . .

Q. Well, now about the number of ships? These are very large oceans . . .

A. That's right. The number of ships we have is small compared to the numbers of ASW ships and their capability, and the German submarines and their capability in World War II. The capabilities have increased. We're short of ships, particularly modern ships, and we're concerned about our shipbuilding.

Q. If the Russian submarines began in abrupt dispersal, apparently going on station, would we have the means to counter them all?

A. No, and you never will have. You never can have an absolute defense for anything—well, not quite that. If they were to attack they would get hurt.

Q. Getting back to the Polaris. You have used the figure 40-45 missile submarines. How did you arrive at the maximum figure?

A. Forty-five is not a fixed figure. Forty-five is a number. It is in that neighborhood, under the circumstances that exist now. The reasons for using that figure are these: Supposing you have as many as 30 submarines on station, and you can do that—keep about two-thirds of your submarines on station with 16 missiles each.

(The SSBN's each will have two crews, one resting ashore and the other on duty at sea. Two crews will enable a SSBN to remain at sea almost constantly).

Q. That is an awful lot of missiles.

A. That is an awful lot of missiles. And supposing, we'll say, half of those missiles for one reason or another miss the target. You put two missiles on each target. That's eight targets per ship. Eight times 30 is 240 targets destroyed.

Q. That should cover an awful lot of territory, too.

A. Yes. Now, when you plot a horsepower curve, you start off fairly low and then you go up fairly rapidly and then you start leveling off. . . . You get up to a certain place and 10 more submarines won't do you nearly as much good as three down at the lower or early part of the curve. In other words, 10 more submarines at the top won't be worth the cost. That's not only true of submarines, that's true of any other weapon.

Q. Like the "overkill" argument?

A. Yes, it is part of the argument.

Q. On the Polaris submarine, it seems to me that construction of only three a year is a fairly slow rate?

A. It is. We asked for more, of course, but we were told, "Let's wait for another year until everything has been tested." Our tests are right on schedule and we have had some surprisingly good success. But, after all, it is not an operational weapon yet. I think when it is operating in less than a year, people will say, "Now, we have an operational weapon, let's increase the rate of building." I'm impatient, naturally. . . . They are not cheap, but they are not the most expensive way of doing it (achieving a retaliatory capability), either.

Q. Assuming the Soviets now have—I think the last figure I saw was 4,000,000 tons of merchant shipping—are they as dependent on that shipping to maintain a war force as we are?

A. No.

Q. If we disrupted or destroyed the bulk of that shipping what would happen?

Q. It would inconvenience them but it would not stop them. There are places where shipping to them is very convenient, such as the Baltic. Shipping is a cheap way of doing things. . . . But because they have interior lines—and they are all land lines—and they have also the majority of their requirements within their borders. . . . they do not have to have shipping. Britain is almost entirely dependent upon shipping. We are largely dependent upon shipping.

Q. Could the navy become, with the addition of the Polaris, both the limited war striking force (the marine corps is part of the navy) and the nuclear deterrent?

A. You could envisage possibilities where that could be—if you eliminated a lot of very important factors. . . . In a general war there is no one weapon, or no one service, no one of anything that can win all by itself. We are dependent upon the air force doing their job. . . . We are dependent upon the army holding in Europe and Korea. If they don't, we are in a bad spot in the navy. Likewise they are absolutely dependent upon us because if we don't perform, their people just won't accomplish anything. . . . They all tie in, and you can overcome a defect in one by an increased excellence in another. So for that reason, I don't think it is good to conceive of any one service being the one service. That is one of the reasons, of course, why I am not in favor of a single service.

Q. Can you afford to lose any more ships from your current fleet, such as those lost over the last year?

A. Every lost ship hurts. It is like everything else. There is no cut point—where on this side you are successful and on this side you are a failure. Every time you reduce the size of the navy you increase the pressures on the other people and ships. . . . They work a little bit harder. There is no one point where this navy is big enough or too small. It is a general thing. You just can't do as much.

Q. Assuming a major attack on the United States, wouldn't the navy in the initial period after the attack be about the only force available for retaliation?

A. It depends upon the attack force and that is probably true, the reason being that it takes so much effort to hit things at sea. The same effort devoted to other type targets (industrial complexes, fixed missile bases, etc.) pays off much better. . . .

Q. Can you see any possible early development of an anti-missile missile, any possible defense against a Polaris type submarine?

A. Oh yes, the best defense against the submarine, of course, is to kill the submarine. The difficult part is to kill all the submarines at one time. It is impossible. Any anti-missile missile defense is pretty hard to conceive of now. Take any system—you can destroy a missile near the place where it is going to land, but that takes a very quick reaction. . . . you've got to make sure in destroying it that you don't do more damage than the missile would in the first place.

Q. Is there any defense against the Polaris type submarine?

A. No.

Q. The Polaris has been running as a sort of dark horse in this missile race

Propose Plan To Jail Hoods 15 Years Old

Could be Treated As Adults if Court Finds Them Mature

Albany, N. Y. —(AP)— Fifteen-year-old hoodlums involved in crimes of violence could be sentenced to regular prisons under terms of a program Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller recommended Wednesday to combat juvenile delinquency.

Children's court judges would decide whether the youths were mature for their age and belonged in a regular prison rather than in training schools for juveniles.

The recommendation stemmed from an increase this year in the number of 15-year-old boys who committed murder, manslaughter, rape and other major crimes.

Rockefeller also proposed jobs, work camps and better probation facilities to stem juvenile delinquency.

The recommendations were all along. You haven't said much about it. Why?

A. It is awfully difficult for us to say much about it at times. We were conservative on Polaris and we were that way purposely. In the long run, that pays. I'm not sure, but I think it does. The difficulty is that when you don't say things about it, then people don't know.

Name Guardians for Costello's Daughter

Los Angeles —(AP)— A judge has named two guardians for the late film comedian Lou Costello's youngest daughter, Christine, 12.

Appointed Tuesday were Costello's brother, Pat, as guardian of the girl's estate, and her older sister, Mrs. Patricia C. Mobley, 22, as guardian of her person.

Christine, Judge Frank S. Balthis was told, will inherit property from her father's $200,000 estate and from that of her mother, Mrs. Anne Costello. Another daughter, Carol, 20, also survives.

The comedian died last March 5; his widow Dec. 5.

based on a report by a study commission he put to work after an outbreak of murder and other juvenile violence in New York City this year.

The governor proposed:

1. Easing labor laws to allow youths 14 and 15 to work in offices and shops where there was no danger from machinery or chemical processes. Such youths now are limited to doing household chores or odd jobs.

2. Providing facilities with "a home-like atmosphere" and some supervision for parolees 12 through 20 who could be released from institutions but do not have suitable homes to go to.

3. Establishment of a centralized probation service in New York City to replace the present system under which each court has its own probation facilities and probation officers are "underpaid and overworked."

GREETINGS!
From all of us to all of you. We appreciate the clients we have established and welcome the acquaintances yet to be made.

A Merry Christmas to All - and to All a Happy New Year.

The Holiday Season
is a special time for all of us. A special time for joyful, eager children and a special time for proud parents and grandparents. It's fun to remember things past and it's fun to imagine things to come. Our way of life is a good one - because we may rear our children with confidence. Confidence comes with security in a home of your own. All of us extend our warm greetings and good wishes for this holiday season.
